Western Five to aid grants

Romulus first to okay new area consortium

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

In the jargon of the aerospace industry, "all systems are go" for eventual membership of five area communities into a consortium that would give added leverage in obtaining large federal grants and other benefits.

At the last of several meetings over the last few months, mayors and supervisors from Van Buren Township, Belleville, Sumpter Township, Romulus and Huron Township agreed to call the new body the Western Five Community Conference.

The brainchild of Henry Redman, township manager for Sumpter Township, the consortium (or banking agreement) would be financed during the first year of operation by a federal grant of $56,000 for which Redman already has approval.

Western Five could operate with four of the five communities, Redman explained, although his goal is to have all five governments approve the plan.

Last week, Romulus City Council approved membership in the consortium. Chances for approval in the remaining four communities look very favorable.

Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson said he and the city council will review final draft of the consortium agreement following study by the city attorney. He said approval for Belleville to join the consortium is almost a certainty.

In Huron Township, Sup. Roy Raker said he had been authorized by the township board to study the final draft of the consortium agreement and to go ahead with plans to join the new body.

Last night (Tuesday), the Van Buren and Sumpter township boards were scheduled to consider the consortium agreement. In both townships, passage is anticipated.

Redman, who obtained approval for the initial $56,000 grant, said the new body would be similar to the 14-community Downriver Community Conference now in its third year.

With the federal grant paying for the consortium's first year of operation, including the salary for a director and administrative assistant, cost to each of the five communities would be free, he said.

Once in operation, the Western Five Community Conference would:

- 1) Enable procurement of large grants in which the five communities would share through a more speedy and easier procedure;
- 2) Decrease cost of various inurance programs to each member by purchasing in larger amounts;

3) Cut down on the cost of cars purchased by member communities as the vehicles could be obtained in larger fleet orders;

Larger federal grants would permit bigger and better programs by each member community for senior citizens, recreation, housing, rehab housing, arts, manpower, management training, youth, economic development, environment, solid waste disposal and technical assistance, Redman explained. After several earlier meetings, the five communities thus far have tentatively agreed on the new name

Dog kills deer

Mrs. Lois Mattis of Romulus looks down sadly at body of young doe deer belonging to her mother which was reportedly killed early last Wednesday by two large dogs in the southwest part of the city. Another doe and a buck also were slain by dogs from the 11 deer raised by Mrs. Anna Majchszak. In 1972, she suffered the loss of five of her deer slaughtered by large dogs roaming the area. The two does killed last week were both pregnant, Mrs. Mattis said. She said death came from a bite in the neck from one or both of the two dogs seen in the vicinity - a German Shepherd and a large black dog, most likely a Labrador Retriever. Angler is victim

Man drowns in lake; suicide is thwarted

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville Lake had its first drowning of the year early Monday morning, but was thwarted from claiming a second victim Saturday night when a suicide attempt was foiled.

The body of Eddie McGee, 45, of Detroit, was recovered about 3:15 p.m. Monday by Cpl. Gerald Boyne, a diver for the marine division of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

McGee's body was found in 20 feet of water about 10 feet from a cement slab underneath Belleville Bridge on which he was reported to have been sleeping, according to Insp. James Hale.

The officer said the deceased man and his 14-year-old son, Eddie McGee Jr., had crawled along the under-structure of the bridge to the cement slab about 11 p.m. Sunday to fish.

The boy told police his father evidently fell asleep and had fallen face first into the water. He said his father came to the surface only once before disappearing into the waters of the lake.

Hale said the boy apparently made no attempt to go to the aid of his father. The police investigation did not disclose if the victim or his son could swim.

At 7:20 p.m. Saturday, Belleville Bridge was the scene of a suicide attempt by a young man who jumped from the west side of the bridge at the south end, according to Lt. Fred Reiman, who heads the sheriff's marine division.

Occupants of at least three boats in the vicinity jumped into the water and rescued the would-be suicide. Reiman said the man fought with his rescuers and had to be handcuffed by his men when they arrived on the scene.

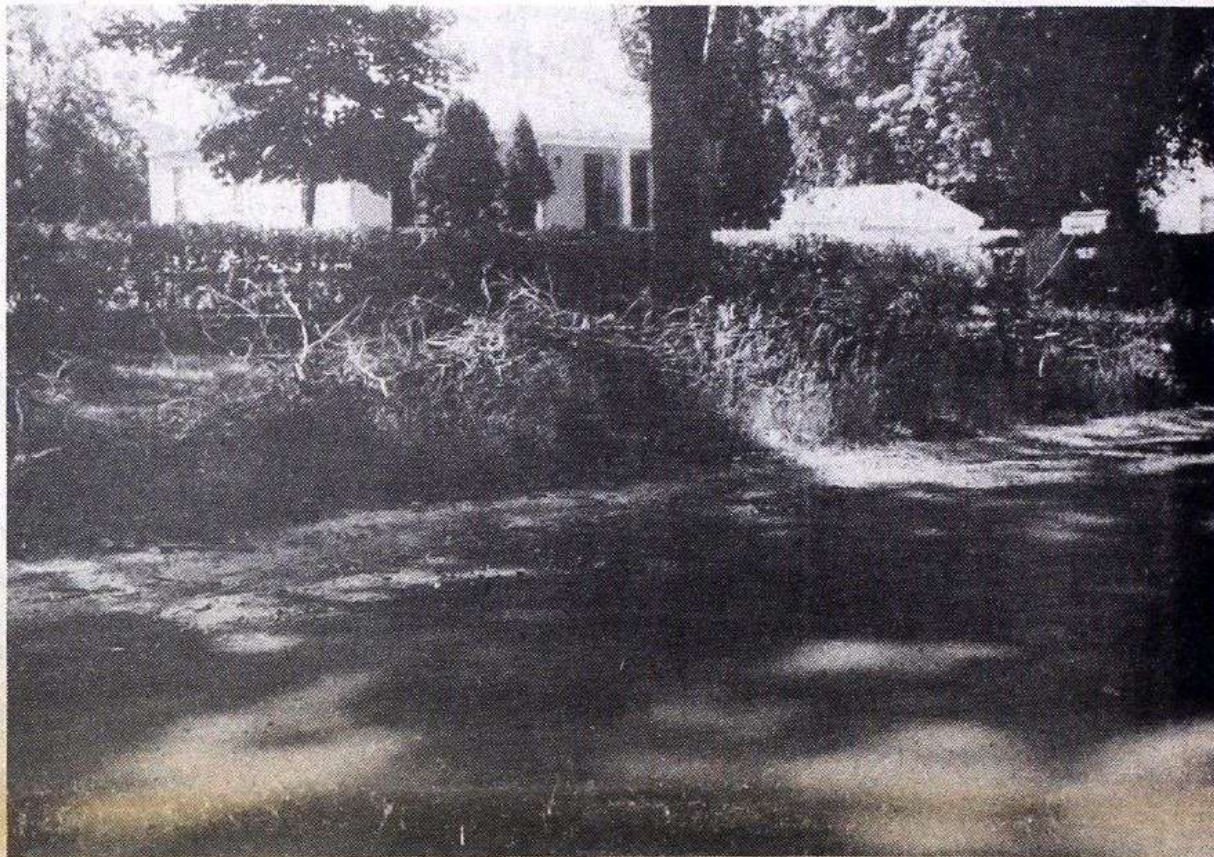

Identified as Virgil R. Higgins, 27, of Lincoln, Ill., the rescued man was taken to Wayne County General Hospital where he again had to be restrained by officers.

Investigating officers said Higgins had been living with his sister, Mrs. Norma Arkos, and her husband in Van Buren Township. Further investigation revealed that Higgins had attempted suicide on a previous occasion and had been confined to a hospital in Dekalb, Ill.

Reiman said Higgins told officers he wanted to end his life because he hated it.

Recently, the Wayne County Road Commission erected signs on Belleville Bridge forbidding fishing from or near the structure.

Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson told the Enterprise that the city of Belleville and Van Buren Township will enforce the fishing restrictions.

Claims city ignores eyesore

Pile of trash in ditch on street in area west of Wayne and Van Buren roads has been ignored repeatedly by the city, according to a nearby resident. The 79-year-old widow claimed she has called the mayor's office several times, been treated "very nicely" by the lady who answers the telephone, but obtained no results in moving the pile of limbs and garbage two doors from her house which had lain there since last winter's ice storm. The woman said she was successful in getting an earlier rubbish pile in the same area removed by a kindhearted city crew, but had run into a stone wall to have the second eyesore taken care of. The Enterprise was told by the mayor's office that the property owner had been served with a warning and notice of legal action if it was ignored. The complaining neighbor, however, said the city was "passing the buck." (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

Late as usual

New city budget up slightly

"Better late than never" seems to be the slogan of the Romulus City Council, as it again dragged its feet in passing the city budget. However, both council and mayor came in for some praise.

When that body passed the 1979-80 city budget last week, action came seven weeks past the May 15 deadline despite its receipt from the mayor on the required April 1 date. Both dates are stipulated under the city charter.

With Councilman Ray Cantrell

excused from the council and Councilman James Raspberry voting, no the vote was 5-1 to approve the new $12,113,698 overall budget for the fiscal year July 1, 1979 to June 30, 1980.

The new overall budget is up a nominal 4.2 percent over last year's figure of $11,625,543. The general fund portion of the new budget increased less than $12,000 from $6,096,650 to $6,108,441.

Commenting on the new city budget, Clerk Leonard J. Folmar said, "In an era of declining revenues and increased costs, the city has made an attempt to maintain all existing services while undertaking new projects with practically the same number of dollars."

Folmar said the mayor and council deserve at the least his vote of confidence for "... truly representing the best interests of the citizens of this community."

Among the pluses and minuses contained in the new city budget, some $800,000 in increases represent higher revenues for the water and sewer funds. The increases came about as a result of higher charges for those services passed on to the city of Romulus by the city of Detroit.

Included in minuses is a $200,000 decrease in contract payments to the city's capital improvements program.

Also listed among increases in the new budget are funds to pay for salary raises for three DPW foremen who are members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, and members of the teamsters union who will receive a total of 40 cents an hour hike in pay by December of this year.

Huron names Curtis Bartz school supt.

Curtis Bartz, school superintendent at Deerfield, Mich. for the last four years, was named superintendent of the Huron Public Schools. Showing him the ropes in his new job is his secretary, Marge Hawkes. Hired under a two-year contract with a beginning salary of $36,000 annually, Bartz was an administrator for 10 years at the Clawson Elementary School and a teacher for six years in the Lanphere School District in Madison Heights. He and his wife, Jeanette, a former schoolteacher at Lanphere, have a daughter, Kathryn, 16, who will be a senior at Huron High School, and Curtis Jr., 14, who will be a freshman at the same school. Bartz and his family plan to move into the Huron school district soon. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

Commissioners again reject Hines mini-station

The Hines Park mini-station, established several weeks ago, has failed to win the formal approval of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners a second time, leaving unanswered questions for both its immediate future and long-range existence.

Rejecting a second try last month, the board denied, by one vote, to authorize a lease on the tentative mini-station building and property, owned by the County Road Commission.

The same proposal also was turned down by the board on June 7, in each instance with votes showing clear differences between City of Detroit and suburban representatives on the board.

Now it is even more uncertain how or whether the mini-station will continue. The station was put into effect under administrative sanctions of the Sheriff and Road Commission despite objections apparent in the June 7 overall decision of the board.

Board Chairman Richard E. Manning and Commissioner George

F. Killeen argued then that the entire package of Hines Park security recommendations could be carried out under the Sheriff's jurisdiction without need of agreement from the board.

Essentially, all the security recommendations coming from the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee after two public hearings already are in effect. Except for the mini-station lease proposal, all also were approved by the board on June 28.

During that meeting, however, Manning said the Road Commission insists on a lease agreement to relieve it of liability while the property is being administered by the Sheriff.

"It is still their property, and otherwise they are still responsible," Manning pointed out. "Up to this point we have been using the facilities on a day-to-day agreement on the premise that we would enter into a lease."

Manning after the meeting said: "At this point it is conceivable that the mini-station will have to go. The next step is to try to work out some other arrangement, perhaps one that does not need approval of the full board.

"It seems a shame. The lease was for only $1 per year for three years. I plan now to confer with the Road Commission and their legal staff on some other possible arrangement."

Although Manning said there is "obvious personal aggravation involved between the suburbs and Detroit," the commissioners from Detroit spoke in general against possible unforeseen costs during the meeting.

Said Commissioner Rose Mary C. Robinson: "We don't know of any costs yet. We don't know how much will be required to bring such a facility up to construction code."

"I also am concerned that any money for this project, for labor and otherwise, might have to come from proposed legislation that would instead go toward probate and juvenile court needs."

Commissioners Jackie L. Currie

and Arthur M. Carter expressed concern for staff expenses and "Where is the money coming from and how much?"

Manning insisted that the entire project would cost no more than the lease agreement. He said that staff and necessary renovation expenses can be paid from present allocations with shifts in existing personnel and arrangements negotiated between appropriate department heads and union officials.

Manning added that State Reps. Richard A. Young (D-Dearborn Heights) and Robert C. Law (R-Livonia) are asking for inclusion of $200,000 in House Bill 4011 before the State Legislature for funds for the mini-station, and development of two others.

Other than the mini-station, security arrangements approved by the board and in progress under the Sheriff and Road Commission are changes in traffic patterns, parking regulations and closing of some entrances and exits at the park.

Young energy attitudes a surprise

If it were up to today's young people, there'd be less energy wasted and plenty of gas at the pumps.

Coordinators of the Michigan 4-H Youth Energy Project have found that high school youths are more easily convinced to save energy than their parents.

"The kids aren't too hard to convince," said Lowell Rothert, program leader for the Michigan 4-H Youth Program. "It's the parents who are harder to change, though as gas prices have gone up, interest in conservation has also gone up."

Michigan was one of 10 states which received funding from the Federal Department of Energy for conservation education programs which began Jan. 1, 1978. Michigan's project, focusing on about 30,000 high school students in five regions across the state, was the only one which involved youth education.

"The energy project's main objective was to change the energy conservation attitudes of high school students and their families," Rothert said. "Questionnaires completed by students in the program showed a much stronger conservation ethic than those filled out by non-participating students."

The 4-H project emphasized conservation mainly in the areas of home heating and cooling and use of the family car, each of which comprises about 40 percent of the energy used by families.

"We found hands-on, practical programs to be most effective," Rothert added. "In one program, we had the students read the gas or electric meters in their homes at the beginning of a week and again a week later. Then we asked them to try to conserve for a week, along with their families, and read the meter again. This really made a lot of people aware of the importance of conservation."

A unique component of the energy project was the Computer Transportation Program. About 900 families of the high school students last year figured their average car mileage, how many miles they were getting to a gallon of gasoline, and how much they were paying for gas. The figures were plugged into the computer, which pointed out ways to cut down on gas consumption.

"A year ago, implementing the recommendations would have saved about $300 a year, but since gasoline prices have gone up so quickly, that would be about $450 a year now," Rothert noted.

The program recommended driving to work only half the time and taking mass transit systems or carpooling the rest of the time, using the car to shop for groceries only once a week, cutting down travel mileage by 10 percent and reducing local driving by 20 percent.

The energy project also included workshops for 4-H leaders and high school teachers. According to Rothert, the high school program was very effective.

"Integrating energy education material into the regular curriculum provided teachers with an opportunity to discuss relevant, real, public concerns," he said. "It was an enlightening experience for all involved."

The Michigan 4-H Youth Energy Project was implemented with the help of the Michigan State University Science and Mathematics Teaching Center. The program was made possible by a special grant from the Energy Administration, Michigan Department of Commerce.

Polish polka festival slated for Aug. 3-5

A Polish celebration of singing and dancing will be held in Wyandotte at the air-conditioned, Yack Arena on Aug. 3, 4, and 5. Under the chairmanship of Richard and Pattie Dachnowski, the new Polish Polka Festival hopes to become one of the most energetic ethnic events the "Festival City" will host.

The Polish style of merrymaking will be set to the music of such great name bands as Marion Lush (the golden voice of Polish music), the Canadian Fiddlestix (their new release, "Maple Sugar Polka," was recently voted number one polka record), the Imperials of Toledo, Polka Cavaliers, Harold Mitas, the Polka Towners of Muskegon, and the Glass Town Sound.

Along with happy polka music, visitors will find it hard to resist the aroma of Polish sausage, dumplings, stuffed cabbage, paczki (fruit-filled doughnuts) and angel wings. The Polish culture and heritage will also be extended through the variety of dances performed by the Galicja Dance Ensemble on Sunday and also by the many booths displaying old world crafts, Polish souvenirs, records and baked goods will be available for those who wish to take the spirit of the festival home with them.

Doors will open at 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and at 2 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $2 and $2.50 on Sunday. Senior citizens will be admitted for half price on Friday. Children under 12, accompanied by parents, will be admitted free.

25 drum corps join in regional

Some 25 drum corps from throughout the United States and Canada will converge on Eastern Michigan University's Ryerson Stadium July 12 for the 1979 Drum Corps International Northern Regional Championship.

The top 10 competing corps will be showcased in the final competition to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the finals are $4 and $6 and are available at the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce. For further information on tickets, call the Chamber of Commerce at (313) 482-4920.

In brief

Named ed director

Mrs. Audrey Kazanowski, interim principal at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School in Romulus will become acting director of the community education program for the Romulus Community Schools for the school year beginning next fall.

She had been serving as interim principal at Mt. Pleasant since Principal Terrel M. LeCesne had left to assume his new position as director of employee and labor relations for the Romulus school system.

Bill Smith, community education director, is currently on a year's leave of absence.

Rotary sets barbeque

The Romulus Rotary Club will hold its annual chicken barbeque Saturday, July 21, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Kennedy Park near Five Points in Romulus. Tickets, which are priced at $3 each, can be purchased from any Rotary member.

Consortium nears

for the organization, bylaws and budget, Redman said.

Headquarters for the Western Five will be in offices at the Van Buren Township Hall after that township agreed to donate space to the fledgling body once it gets rolling.

Redman said he anticipates no problems in having the governor sign a charter for the non-profit organization, a necessary requisite before the consortium can officially begin operation.

Aside from the Downriver Community Conference, Redman said he knew of no other such consortium in Michigan. However, he said Frank Lada, chairman of the Downriver Community Conference and mayor of Allen Park, did assist formation of a consortium in Illinois south of Chicago.

Redman hastened to explain that membership in the Western Five would still allow individual member communities to apply for and receive smaller grants as in the past.

Illegal lake access blasted; marina owners vow fight

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

An unauthorized access site used illegally by boaters to launch their crafts into Belleville Lake is being blasted by local marina owners as unfair to their business and as possibly responsible in part for crime on that body of water.

Gil and Sandy Gillespie, new owners of Sandy's Marina, formerly Guenther's Marina, near Huron River Drive and Edison Lake Road, were sharply critical of the unlawful access site directly east across the lake from their marina.

They contend that the two small parcels of land on the west side of Haggerty Road just north of the old French Landing Dam, should be made off limits to boaters bypassing licensed commercial marinas such as theirs.

George Heifner, who lives nearby, feels the same way. "About five years ago before the bridge on Haggerty Road was widened, the state Highway Department, which owns the land, had it fenced and some effort was made to keep out boaters."

However, he said, after the bridge repairs were made, the fence was torn down and never replaced. Prior to that time, a trench dug across the entry way helped prevent access to the fenced opening to the launching area.

Heifner said he believed "99 percent" of the residents on Alden Drive directly east across Haggerty Road are in opposition to the wide-open use of the access site to the lake.

Although Heifner and the Gillespies feel most of the boaters who use the illegal access site do so to evade the $2 fee charged by Sandy's Marina and the new DNR access site, they are of the opinion that a few craft owners are doing more than fishing.

Gillespie pointed out that the two marinas have definite closing hours for launching boats, usually 9:30 p.m., with 11 p.m. permitted under special permission.

But, he said, some boaters launch their crafts in the wee hours of the morning.

"I plan to ask the governor how he would like to live on Belleville Lake and have anyone running around on the water at any time of the night," he declared.

Although Heifner said the State Highway Department told him they would post signs to bar entry to the unauthorized access site, department officials said it would do little good unless signs were enforced by police.

When he asked if Van Buren Township would have its police officers enforce the signs when erected, he said Supt. Pat Cullin told him a lack of personnel would make it impossible to adequately enforce the ban.

Not letting any grass grow under his feet, Gillespie last week called the office of Sen. William Faust. His aide, David Callanan referred him to the State Highway Department.

Leonard Farr of the Highway Department told him he was familiar with the property in question and that Van Buren Township had made noises about purchasing the land. He also promised Gillespie he would check into the matter of closing off the illegal access site.

True to his word, Farr called Gillespie Monday, told him signs would be put up to bar trespassers, but hedged on why the State Highway Department would not put up a fence on its own property, Gillespie said.

However, Farr said if posted signs were ignored by boaters who trespassed, the state police and the sheriff's department should be called to enforce the restrictions.

Friday morning shortly before noon, the Enterprise observed 15 boat trailers in the area near the illegal access site and saw several boats launched and pulled out of the water.

"On Saturday," Heifner asserted, "there are 75 or more boat trailers on the small strip of land in the vicinity of the launching site."

Gillespie and his wife, who are from Westland and who reopened their marina April 21 of this year, intend to pursue the matter to a conclusion, hopefully in their favor.

Now in the process of repairing their three boat ramps and with up to 45 boats docked at their wharves, they do not intend to have their investment jeopardized.

With memberships selling for only $5, and which includes the first launch free, and subsequent launches costing a mere $2, they do not feel their charges are too high for boaters wishing to cruise and fish on Belleville Lake.

Recently, the state DNR, after a court battle with the township, was ordered to pay a yearly fee to gain the township for the use of land to gain access to launching sites it installed for the use of the general public.

Continued use of the illegal access site to the lake would, therefore, also cut into revenues derived from public launching sites it spent thousands to install.

Heavy traffic at illegal site

Even before noon Friday, boaters were flocking to the illegal launching site on the west side of Haggerty Road north of the old French Landing Dam. Owned by the state Highway Department, the land has been used heavily and little effort has been made in recent years to stop unauthorized use of access site. On Saturdays, as many as 75 boat trailers have been observed there. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

Campbell's Chop House

Catering is the most recent service offered by Campbell's Chop House at 9275 S. Wayne Road, in Romulus, a business already known in the community as a fine meat market for seven years.

Owner Ron Campbell got into the catering business "by popular demand" after serving food at a family function and word got around leading to the establishment of the food service. Featured is a basic banquet menu which is open to special requests.

He's proud of the fact that his first catering job was hors d'oeuvres for 200 at an affair to promote industry for the City of Romulus and the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, a pride shared by chef Bob Griffen.

God's Creations

One of the newer businesses in Romulus, God's Creations, located at 9231 South Wayne Rd., has been holding "open house" since June 1 and are already looking forward to future expansion, according to co-owners, Tom Braun and John Druillard.

The partners, both Christian businessmen, feature western style clothing, casual wear and an array of leather goods, including some saddles, at the store. The future expansions is to allow for a wider range and division of stock to offer easier access for shoppers.

Business hours are noon to 7 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday, and from noon to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

The Green Decor

"Buy it or make it yourself" is the philosophy at the Green Decor at 9271 S. Wayne Road in Romulus, according to owner-instructor Lorraine Wauer. Her shop features macrame articles, the materials for making macrame items, ceramics and other materials for those who choose to be creative.

A Grand Opening with special features is planned for late summer, but in the meantime, the classes are in operation and there is a wide variety in stock for those who prefer the imaginative crafts to decorate their home or to give as gifts.

Wayne captures $98,000 Grant

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The City of Wayne — and its residents — are $98,000 richer today thanks to a federal grant.

The federal grant provides for monies in three specific areas — for a community loan and grant program, to continue with the storm drainage work in the Louis Savage-Garfield Park Subdivision, and for the construction of a baseball diamond in that subdivision.

"We're always happy when our application for such grants are approved by the federal government," said Richard Gillespie, city engineer. "These monies were available to us by programs administered by HUD (Department of Housing and Urban Development).

Gillespie pointed out that $35,000 of the $98,000 will be utilized for the continuation of the work on the storm drainage in the Savage-Garfield Subdivision.

"We have been working out there and will continue to chip away on the project until its completed," Gillespie said. He added that $10,000 of the monies also are earmarked for park equipment and a ball field in that subdivision.

The rest of the federal grant — some $49,000 of it — will be used as a loan-in-grant program whereby residents and businesses who are eligible can borrow monies at low interest rates to repair their homes.

"In most cases these will be loans payable at 3 percent interest rates," Gillespie said. "However, there will be cases where this money will be an outright grant to the individual, if he qualifies."

This is the fifth year of the Community Grant Program.

SEMTA offers Park service

Five area Huron-Clinton metroparks — Metro Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek near Rochester and Utica, Kensington near Milford, Lower Huron and Willow between Belleville and Flat Rock — has available bus service via the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) and Detroit Department of Transportation (D-DOT) in a special program started June 23 and continuing until Oct. 31.

Bus service to the metroparks will be in operation weekdays between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. and weekends between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Round trip bus fares are $1.10 per person when paid in advance, and $1.25 (in cash) when paid the day of the trip.

Arrangements for the special metropark bus service may be made by contacting SEMTA at 362-1160 (suburban line) or D-DOT at 224-1550 (Detroit line).

The service is "demand-planned", which means passengers must call a central dispatch number to make a trip request and the reservation agent will schedule the trip. Reservations or cancellations must be made at least 48 hours in advance for week day outings, and 72 hours in advance of weekend trips. All reservations will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis. Groups will be combined with other groups or individuals as needed.

Persons should plan ahead to use this service, be able to use alternate days, if original schedule is not available, and become familiar with pick-up points along the route and know the designated central meeting spot at the metropark for drop off and pick up.

Four Westland councilmen guilty of 'secret' meeting

Circuit Court Judge Charles S. Farmer has ruled that Westland Councilmen Gail McKnight, Nancy Neal, Richard Stempien and Robert Wagner did violate the Open Meetings Act when they met at the home of Sen. William Faust on Feb. 11, 1978.

The Court's decision, dated June 28, was received in the mail by attorneys for both sides Tuesday.

The civil lawsuit was brought against the four councilmen by Westland citizens Anne DeSmit and John Auten in April 1978.

At that time, they asked the court to issue a permanent injunction prohibiting the four from meeting in secret again.

However, in the opinion issued by Judge Farmer, he states: "This Court therefore invalidates the compromises and decisions made by the body at that meeting."

This relief was never sought by the plaintiffs in the case originally, according to Dennis Dettmer, attorney for Mrs. DeSmit and Auten.

Now that the judge has issued his opinion that there was indeed a secret meeting, it will be up to the attorney prevailing in the case, Dettmer, to write up a suggested court order for relief in the case, and submit it to the judge. Dettmer said he will have to clarify that portion of the judge's opinion invalidating the meeting "decisions" before writing the order.

Dettmer wasn't sure late Tuesday afternoon what will be contained in that order.

However, if the "compromises and decisions" of that Feb. 11, 1978, meeting are invalidated, it would result in complicated and explosive repercussions in the city.

The opinion of the court stated, in part:

"It is this Court's opinion that the record and testimony support plaintiffs' position that the meeting on Saturday Feb. 11, 1978, violated the Open Meetings Act."

The judge stated that the meeting could not be construed as being one of the exceptions allowed under the act.

"This Court is not unmindful of the defendants' testimony that the original purpose was to solve non-public problems and to create harmony between council members and the mayor."

"However, the goals achieved, and the subject matter of the discussion and the deliberations, the allocation of monies to pay for the salaries and positions in question, along with the resolutions inroduced and passed at the regular meeting of the City Council of Feb. 21, 1978, indicate that the meeting served a dual purpose and that the other purpose was to solve the 'Sylvia Kozorosky matter'."

The plaintiffs had contended that the meeting was held to discuss city business, particularly to resolve a conflict that had arisen in the city over the council majority's firing of then department on aging director Sylvia Kozorosky.

The council majority eventually agreed to hire Mrs. Kozorosky back as deputy director, in a compromise with Mayor Thomas Taylor, who had appointed her. The plaintiffs had alleged that this compromise was worked out at this Feb. 11, 1978, meeting, held at the home of Sen. Faust.

CHIROPRACTIC, ILLNESS & YOU!

Do you go to your family doctor of chiropractic (D.C.) only when you are not feeling well? If you are like most people you would probably say, "Why go to the doctor when nothing seems to be wrong?" Your chiropractor might say, "That's just it. Nothing seems to be wrong but you can't always tell by how you feel whether your body is working properly."

By the time you are physically aware of a health problem, the disorder is often quite advanced and may be more difficult to correct than if it had been caught earlier. That is because there are at least four phases in any illness. The four phases are:

1. PRODUCTION OF CAUSE This may be interference with nerve transmission somewhere between the brain and one or more organs of the body.
2. RESULTING MALFUNCTION This is a failure of some organ or organs and the resulting upset in the chemical balance of the body.
3. APPEARANCE OF OUTWARD SYMPTOMS This is when you notice you are not feeling well.
4. ACTUAL STRUCTURAL CHANGE in tissue in the affected organs.

People are seldom aware of any disorder until it has reached the third stage and even then they may pass it off as nothing to be concerned about. Symptoms of a disorder may be a mild headache, an upset stomach or excessive nervousness. Unless you realize that these may be warnings, you might ignore them instead of seeing your chiropractor.

It would be ideal if you could see your chiropractor before the disorder has passed the first stage of the disease process. As pointed out earlier, you probably have no way of knowing whether interference to nerve transmission exists in your body. But your doctor of chiropractic can tell by using certain analytical procedures. When he detects no nerve interference, he will tell you so. If nerve interference does exist, a proper vertebral adjustment may save you months of pain and suffering.

It is good common sense to have a regular spinal examination regardless of how you feel on the surface. Always make an appointment with your chiropractor following an accident. Even minor slips, jolts and jars frequently result in spinal misalignments sufficient to produce the cause of illness.

Sumpter Head Start

The Sumpter Head Start Center, a federally funded preschool program for children from low-income families, is enrolling 3- and 4-year-olds for the 1979-80 school year.

The program works with young children and their families through a preschool classroom experience and a parent education program.

Four-year-old children come to school twice a week for a 3-hour session, while 3-year-olds come once a week. Transportation, breakfast and lunch are provided.

Parents are asked to help in the classroom occasionally and to attend parent meetings.

To be eligible for the Head Start Program youngsters must live in the Van Buren Public School District attendance area or in Sumpter Township. Families must be able to show proof of low income — receiving public assistance or having an income that does not exceed the federal poverty income guidelines, such as $6,700 for a family of four.

Youngsters also must be either 3 or 4 years old by Dec. 1.

The Sumpter Head Start Center is located at 23501 Sumpter Road in the former Sumpter Elementary School.

A limited number of over-income children will be taken into the program if there is space available. To make an appointment for enrollment or for further information call Barbara Smith, director, at 461-6561.

Area man battles city hall over adult bookstore's negative influence

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

What would you do if you lived across the alley from an adult book store and your small children kept finding magazines with pictures of nude men and women on the cover? You'd probably do what James and DeArtriss Richardson did — enlist the aid of city hall. But you'd hope for more success, at least in the opinion of the Richardsons.

The young married couple lives right behind an adult book store, located on Michigan Avenue just east of Middlebelt Road. And the problem developed when customers of the store started dropping what she called lewd magazines into their backyard.

Mrs. Richardson, who is 27 and was raised in Inkster, said she loves her town, but feels she and her family are being short-changed by city officials. With husband James, who is 29 years old, she has appeared at different times before City Council with their two young children, begging the mayor, councilmen and city manager to do something about the problem that has plagued the Richardsons for more than a year.

At a recent council meeting, Mrs. Richardson held up a magazine with a nude man and woman on the cover in an intimate position.

"I found this book on my lawn today — would anyone like to take a look at it?" she said, offering the book to anyone who wanted to see it in the council chambers. With her was her husband and their two small children, Erica, 4, and James, Jr., 2.

"I'd like council to reconsider putting up a fence behind the adult book store. Not only do we wind our backyard littered with magazines like this, cars are parked on our property during store hours."

Council's main response was that the city could not order the book store to put up a fence at the rear of its property because it came under the "grandfather clause". That is, the city ordinance requiring a fence by businesses was passed after the store already was in operation.

However, Mrs. Richardson refuted the city's argument, claiming they made Faith Temple Church on Harrison and Cherry Street put up a fence to shield headlights from nearby homes.

"We need a fence to keep the lights from the cars shining right into our back bedroom window. Not only that, the book store put bright lights on the edge of their roof to discourage vandals and they shine into our back windows until real late at night," Mrs. Richardson said.

Although council said they "would do what they could", some felt they didn't seem very sympathetic to her cause. William Daniels, now mayor who was then mayor-pro-tem, told Mrs. Richardson at the council meeting that "you might get a little reflection of light." Former mayor Terrel M. LeCesne told her that the city had "no cause" to have business erect a sign.

"What do you mean no cause?" asked Mrs. Richardson. Twice she repeated her question. What LeCesne meant was the city had no legal right to make the store put up the fence.

Other Councilmen offered suggestions. James Collier said business licenses come up each year for renewal, and the city should make sure things are in order before renewing the book store's license. Joseph Davis Jr. said: "The ordinance officer should be sent there, and the place should be ticketed for littering."

Robert Cullen added: "I feel the city should do something — perhaps we could put up a snow fence."

Patrick O'Neil said, "There are two problems here. One, people are parking on your property," he told Mrs. Richardson. "Two, litter is blowing on your property."

Davis cited an example. "The whole thing in a nutshell is that there's a law — let's enforce it. The Elks Club was made to comply."

However, LeCesne, who moderated the council session, but has since resigned as mayor, replied: "The Elks Club still hasn't complied and put up a fence."

Mrs. Richardson listened to the councilmen's suggestions. "Police are slow to respond — it takes them an hour to respond when we call about people parking on our lawn. Many times the people are gone by that time," she said.

Since her last meeting with the council, Mrs. Richardson has seen three "No Parking" signs erected along the alley next to her house and a stop sign put up. But even that was due to the fact the newspapers were coming out, Mrs. Richardson claimed.

"I knew this is true, because one day I looked out and saw two or three employees of the book store picking up litter from our backyard," she said. Mrs. Richardson said the store manager told her he received a call from the city ordinance officer who told him "the news media is coming out so make sure this place is cleaned up."

Mrs. Richardson grew up in Inkster schools and later attended Michigan State University for 2½ years. She won a scholarship from WCHB radio station while a student at Inkster High School and has worked for the Wayne County Department of Social Services in Inkster for four years.

"The thing that's especially disappointing to me is that Mr. Daniels and Mr. LeCesne were my teachers in high school. When you're in school, they teach you to do right and be respectable. Now when you appear before them and ask for their help, they act so nonchalant and let you down," Mrs. Richardson said.

"The only thing I want to do is protect my children from this type of filthy literature and things like the edible bra that they found on our lawn. If the mayor or councilmen lived in this house, they wouldn't want their wife and children to see these books. It makes you feel that something is going on politically — they're protecting his rights, but not ours," Mrs. Richardson fumed.

"Those men on the council are so cold — they don't care. I think a woman on the council would know better how I feel about this situation."

Mrs. Richardson claims she has called the city manager's office "at least 25 times" but is either put on "hold" most of the time or told he is out. She did say, however, she met recently with City Manager Wylie Williams, building inspector Luther Nickerson and a police officer. But although she's happy with the slight progress that has been made, Mrs. Richardson is far from satisfied.

One cancer you can give yourself.

Horrible isn't it?

Energy Secretary James Schlesinger (left) makes a point during a recent luncheon talk with local officials from Western Wayne County. The officials were in the nation's capital for Congressman William D. Ford's annual meeting with the area's elected representatives. The Energy Secretary predicted an early easing of current gasoline shortages, saying that petroleum imports already are increasing. However, Ford and Congressman John Dingell (center) discounted the prediction and are working for quick passage of synthetic fuel legislation. Both see synthetic fuels as a major answer to America's growing dependence on imported oil.

Manning announces 'Super Sewer' support

Richard E. Manning, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, has announced endorsement from the City of Wayne Chamber of Commerce for the "supersewer concept" for Western Wayne County.

Manning was informed in a letter from Chamber President David J. Willett that the organization voted unanimous support for the idea which has direct effect on growth and-or decline in both Detroit and suburban areas.

"We believe that the 'Supersewer' is a logical solution to the prevalent problem of inadequate sewer facilities in Western Wayne County," the letter stated. "No doubt that all are not in favor of further out-county growth, but it is our conviction that in reality the 'Supersewer' will enable us to effectively deal with the business and housing expansion that will come our way in any event."

Officially known as the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System, two sewer plans are in dispute between the County Board of Public Works and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The county plan calls for a $200 million system with a 69-mile-long underground pipe fed by lateral sewers from communities enroute and would extend from southwest Oakland County down through Western Wayne County. It would end at Brownstown where drinking-quality water would be discharged in Lake Erie a mile from shore.

An alternate plan devised by the EPA would serve fewer communities in less area, excluding Oakland County altogether. EPA agreement is critical to either plan because its approval is necessary to qualify for federal funding up to an estimated 75 percent of total cost. Without federal funding, the county cannot pursue either plan.

Decision by the EPA is expected sometime in July, according to Royce E. Smith, managing director of the County Department of Public Works.

Ford survey finds Inflation-Energy tops

Inflation and energy are the major concerns of residents in Michigan's 15th Congressional District, according to tabulations of Congressman William D. Ford's annual questionnaire survey.

In a newsletter mailed last week to his constituents, Congressman Ford reported on the results of the first 10,000 replies to his annual questionnaire, which was distributed in April.

Inflation was listed by 59 percent of the returns as one of the three most important problems facing the nation. Energy was in second place with 47 percent. Crime and drugs were a low third with 15 percent.

Congressman Ford's constituents also:

— Favored (70 percent) more research into alternative energy sources, and (53 percent) expanded use of America's coal reserves. Nearly half (45 percent) favored a crash program to develop solar energy, and only 30 percent favored development of more nuclear power plants.

— Favored (56 percent) our last year's formal recognition of mainland China, but only 16 percent approved the ending of our defense treaty with Taiwan.

— Opposed last year's passage of the Panama Canal Treaty (13 percent approval), and rejected any resumption of diplomatic relations with Cuba (24 percent approval).

— Favored (58 percent) more regulation of foreign investments in the United States.

Other percentage highlights of the survey returns:

— U.S. membership and support of the United Nations — 48 percent approval.

— Mandatory wage and price controls — 37 percent approval.

— Comprehensive National Health Insurance — 32 percent approval.

— Renewal of the draft for military service — 37 percent approval.

Congressman Ford has conducted this survey each year since his election to Congress. Questionnaires are sent to each of the more than 170,000 homes in the 15th District. The returns are tabulated by staff members and volunteer workers in his district office.

"This is one of the most valuable projects we carry out each year," Congressman Ford commented. "There is no other way for me to obtain such a broad sampling of my constituents' views on the wide range of issues and problems facing our nation."

Juchartz reappointed County Planning Commission post

Wayne County Commissioner Kay L. Beard has announced the reappointment of County Cooperative Extension Director Donald D. Juchartz of Belleville to the County Planning Commission for his fourth consecutive term.

Juchartz was the nominee of Commissioner Beard for the three-year term ending in 1982. He has served with the Extension Service since 1956 and is president of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

"Juchartz will again represent agricultural interests on the commission," said Mrs. Beard.

"And I know of no one else who has more expertise in that field, or more dedication to harmonious development in Wayne County than he."

The 11-member commission directs the development and improvement of county-owned lands and facilities. It also reviews planning programs initiated by local municipalities whenever federal funds are involved.

By law, the commission must reflect various segments of the total community, such as labor, industry, recreation, education and agriculture.

Juchartz said the commission does not follow the traditional role of "drawing maps" as its ultimate planning goal, but seeks to "improve the quality of life, to save essential assets in each community that can never again be replaced."

"Essentially, we try to put everything into a total county context," he explained. "We plan, advise, encourage, arbitrate, oversee — and push for those things that will make a better environment for all. One thing's for sure. We're not a rubber stamp agency. We look at all sides and we've got broad representation to come up with impartial decisions."

ARE YOU AWARE

Why The Suicide Rate is so High Among Our Young People?

Why do these young people have no hope for the future? What examples have been set for them to follow? Whose failure in life caused them to give up and quit?

ST. JOHN 10:10 The thief cometh, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.

A warning and a promise are contained in the above words of Jesus our Lord.

The enemy of our soul would like to steal the life or the hope of life from us all. The destroyer plans well ahead, by destroying the morals or happiness of parents, thereby leaving an example of failure, frustrations and more. The offspring sees no hope in that kind of life, leaving no reason to face the future. The destroyer has succeeded in setting up a chain reaction of misery and death.

How do we get people to meet the giver of life, of the abundant life? By having them peek behind our stone or brick facades and watch us carry out some hollow, lifeless ritual known in the church world as serving God. Who are we now, the other days of the week? How much more frustrations, and confusion did our ritual of serving God add to an already troubled soul? Let instead our service to God become a daily ritual of studying God's word that we may have materials for bringing the abundant life to the needy.

MUSICAL NOTES

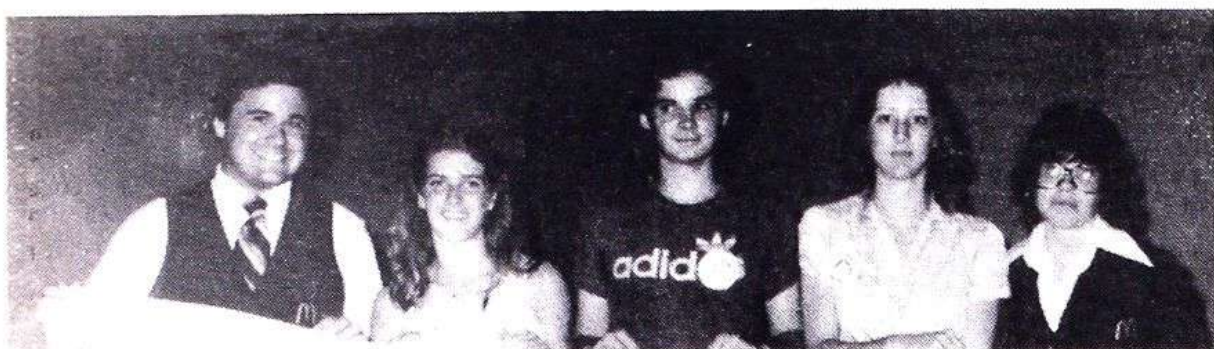

by Doug Brown

Some stereo equipment appears quite complicated to a beginning listener. But in reality, stereo systems work on a set of fairly basic principles. Take speakers, for instance. Their job is to transform electrical signals from an amplifier into sound vibrations in the air. The basic speaker is generally itself a paper cone with a wire voice-coil attached at the end. The coil vibrates with electronic signals and the vibrations become music.

Open up a whole new world of musical enjoyment with an organ or piano purchased from DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, 941-8484. 'Big Event' convention

Several employees of the McDonald's Restaurant, located on Rawsonville Road, recently took part in the "Big Event," a mock political convention to learn about McDonald's PACE (Programmed Assistance in Career Exploration) program. PACE is a computerized career guidance program designed to help McDonald's employees and their immediate families to explore interests, careers and educational and training opportunities by providing relevant, personalized up-to-date career information. Participating in the "Big Event" were unit manager Scott Kavlick (from left), his crew, Jane Schimmel, Tim McClelland, Jeanne Ensch, and the manager of the Belleville Road McDonald's, Helen MacDonald.

Health screening is set for Belleville-Van Buren-Sumpter

Senior citizens of Sumpter and Van Buren townships and the City of Belleville will have the opportunity to take advantage of a special health screening project conducted by the Wayne County Department of Health and supported by a contract with the Detroit-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging.

Open to residents 60 years and older, the screening will be held at the Sumpter Family Practice Center, 19130 Sumpter Road, July 30, through Aug. 16.

The clinic will be held Monday through Thursday.

A health team consisting of a physician, social worker and registered nurse will provide a wide range of screening services to include a health history, height and weight measurement, blood pressure, temperature, pulse, respiration, pap smear, glaucoma, hearing and vision testing. Minor laboratory tests also will be done.

The goal of the health project is to assist senior citizens in gaining access to necessary medical care.

Persons interested should call the health department at 274-2800 or 729-2211, ext. 258, for an appointment.

RESOLUTION 79-236

GOVERNING BODY RESOLUTION CALLING PUBLIC HEARING CONCERNING PROJECT PLAN

Dearborn Tool and Machine Corporation Project
Romulus Economic Development Corporation Project No. 79-236

City of Romulus, Michigan

WHEREAS: There exists in the City of Romulus, (The "Municipality") the need for certain programs to alleviate and prevent conditions of unemployment and to assess and retain local industries and commercial enterprises and to encourage the location of industries and commercial enterprises in order to strengthen and revitalize the economy of the Municipality and provide needed services and facilities to the municipality and the residents thereof; and

WHEREAS: As one of its programs to alleviate the aforesaid conditions and accomplish said purposes, the Economic Development Corporation of the City of Romulus (The "Corporation") in conformity with Act 338, Michigan Public Acts, 1974, as amended ("Act 338") has initiated proceedings with respect to the potential issuance of its limited obligation economic development revenue bonds to assist in the financing of the Project captioned in the title of this resolution; and

WHEREAS: The Corporation in conformity with Act 338 has prepared and submitted to the "Local Public Agency", as defined in Act 338, and this governing body of the Municipality a project plan for the Project; and

WHEREAS: The Local Public Agency has considered or will shortly consider the Project Plan; and

WHEREAS: Pursuant to Act 338, it is necessary to hold a public hearing concerning the Project Plan prior to taking legislative action relating to it. NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT: 1. Pursuant to Act 338 this governing body shall meet on June 26, 1979, at 6:30 p.m., at which time it shall conduct a public hearing on the Corporation's submission of the Project Plan.

2. The Clerk be and is hereby directed to give notice of such public hearing by (1) publishing a notice thereof in the Local Newspaper, a newspaper of general circulation in the Municipality; (2) posting in at least ten (10) conspicuous and public places in the Project District Area; and (3) mailing to the last known owner of each parcel of real property in the Project District Area at the last known address of the owner as shown by the tax assessment records, which notices shall be published and given at least ten (10) full days prior to the date set for said hearing.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROJECT PLAN FOR DEARBORN TOOL AND MACHINE CORPORATION PROJECT INCLUDING ISSUANCE OF BONDS BY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of Romulus, pursuant to and in accordance with Act 338, Michigan Public Acts, 1974, as amended, shall hold a public hearing on June 26, 1979, at 6:30 p.m. at the City Hall, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan.

The Public Hearing shall be held to consider whether the Project Plan recommended to the City Council by the Economic Development Corporation for the Council approving by resolution the Project Plan. The City Council will also consider the findings and recommendations of the City's Planning Commission regarding the Project Plan.

Under the Project Plan the Project would consist of an industrial facility and related improvements to be located on Smith Road west of Middlebelt.

The Project would be acquired by the Economic Development Corporation of the City of Romulus (the "EDC") with the proceeds of approximately $1,100,000 of revenue bonds issued by the EDC pursuant to Act 338. The Project would be leased to Dearborn Tool and Machine Corporation (which would acquire title to the Project upon payment of the bonds). The revenue bonds will be secured by the Project and will be payable solely and only from the rental payments received from the lease of the Project. The bonds will not be a general obligation of the City of Romulus and will not be payable from the general or tax funds of the City.

No persons shall be displaced as a result of the implementation of the Project Plan.

The Project Plan, related maps and drawings and other information concerning the Project and its financing are available for public inspection during regular business hours at the offices of the Dearborn Tool and Machine Corporation.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 17 of Act 338. Further information concerning the matters set out in this notice may be secured from the undersigned's office.

All interested citizens are encouraged and will be offered an opportunity at said hearing to address the City Council concerning the Project Plan.

Leonard J. Folmar, City Clerk

4. This governing body does hereby determine that the foregoing form of notice and the manner of publication directed is adequate notice to the citizens of the Municipality and is well calculated to inform them of the intention of this governing body to hold a public hearing and the purpose of the public hearing.

5. All resolutions and parts of resolutions insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this resolution be and the same hereby are rescinded. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Block, McAnally, Cantrell, Carter, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by McAnally, supported by Block, to adopt Resolution 79-237

RESOLUTION 79-237

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus supports the idea of providing a favorable business climate in the State of Michigan; and

WHEREAS: The State Legislature has provided a means whereby the business climate may be specifically improved by a City by the adoption of Public Act 198, Michigan Acts of 1974; and

Motion by Block, supported by McAnally, to adopt Resolution 79-244:

RESOLUTION 79-244

WHEREAS: The Senate has passed a bill which provides that a Liquor License may be issued to a person who owns or leases a commercial establishment which has been issued a Commercial Facilities Exemption Certificate within a Commercial Redevelopment District, pursuant to Act 255 of the Public Acts of 1978; and

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus is supportive of all measures designed to enhance the competitive posture of the State of Michigan and the City of Romulus; and

WHEREAS: Senate Bill 370 provides a competitive tool for the enducement of Commercial development in communities throughout the State of Michigan; and

WHEREAS: The benefits realized by expanded Commercial Development in local government throughout the State of Michigan must be equitably shared by those governmental entities participating; and

WHEREAS: The vehicle which makes Senate Bill 370 feasible, Public Act 255 of the Public Acts of 1978, fails to provide a share for local government of new revenues generated by the utilization of Public Act 255; and

WHEREAS: Senate Bill 370 continues to perpetrate the same pattern established by the adoption of Public Act 198 of 1974 and 255 of 1978, as is demonstrated by Section 17(6), wherein they establish a license fee for licenses issued under Senate Bill 370 equaling ten times the fee normally charged and a renewal fee twice that normally charged; and

WHEREAS: The issuance of these additional licenses imposes no new requirements upon the Liquor Control Commission.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus, that it does herewith set forth its unalterable opposition to Senate Bill 370 as proposed.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That Senate Bill 370 be revised so as to provide a share for local government of any revenues produced by the utilization of Senate Bill 370.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to William Milliken, Governor, William Faust, Senator, State Representatives, Edward Mahalak and Gary Owen, and all surrounding communities.

Mayor, councilmen swap barbs over appointments

Two Westland councilmen have swiped at Mayor Thomas Taylor for his failing to re-appoint four elderly Westlanders to the City Commission on Aging, questioning his "motives" in replacing the four.

Taylor has wasted no time swiping back at the two councilmen, calling their letter of protest, sent to all senior citizen clubs in the city, "the first piece of literature in campaign '79."

City council elections are this fall, and the two councilmen who signed the letter of protest — Gail McKnight and Richard Stempien — are both up for re-election.

A few weeks ago, the terms of Alice Ferkovich, Paul LeChevalier, Mary Weaver and Stan Pitera expired on the Commission on Aging. Rather than re-appoint them to the seats, Taylor replaced all four. The new Commission on Aging members are Frank Moore, Howard Waldrop, Lee Griffin and Jack Hickey.

At the time, Taylor said he made new appointments "to get different points of view on the commission."

However, the letter from Mrs. McKnight and Stempien, dated June 25, says that the "new blood" reason "does not ring true in this situation."

The two councilmen in their letter added that they believe the mayor exercised "poor taste" by sending the four senior citizens a "form letter with your signature rubber-stamped on it saying their time is up."

"It is appalling treatment from the mayor whose motto is 'May I Serve You' to four citizens who have quietly served our city so well."

Taylor's brief response, dated June 28 and also sent to all senior citizen clubs accuses the two councilmen of manipulating the seniors as "political pawns in your petty campaigns."

"For the past six months, my administration has strived to re-establish tranquility among the Westland senior citizen community."

"Now with the filing date for your re-election campaign only 30 days away, you're both back at attempting to agitate seniors for your political advantage."

"If you have any real concern for the Department on Aging and our seniors — stop manipulating them!"

The senior citizen community in Westland is zealously wooed by political hopefuls in any city election. It was the firing of the director of the department on aging in early 1978 by the 4-member council majority that triggered the recall drive. There were seniors loyal to each of the "sides" in that issue, and on others that have cropped up now and then during the past several years.

The mayor is not up for re-election this year. He has more than two years of his 4-year term to go. But if campaigning goes "as usual" in Westland, he would be expected to support candidates in opposition to Mrs. McKnight and Stempien.

Editorial opinions

"Residency?"

There appears to be a growing trend by local government to allow employees to live outside the community in which they work.

And while we automatically re-think any position which puts us in a corner with Detroit's Mayor Coleman Young, on this issue we concur with his judgment.

We feel that it is essential to the well being of the community as a whole, that its municipal employees live in the community.

Case in point:
About five years ago, the city of Westland placed the issue of 'Residency' on the ballot for voters to decide.

At the time, that move was politically motivated to extricate the administration from a bad situation it found itself in relative to the police and fire departments.

With the surprising passage of the measure, the exodus of Westland public employees began.

Over ensuing years, more and more employees moved out, and several months ago, Westland was forced to close one of its fire stations for the day, when it was impossible to get in touch with firefighters who lived outside of the community, for a call into work.

While fire officials claim the closing had no effect on the department's operation, the logical conclusion most would come to, is that if the city doesn't need the fire station, they should close it permanently. If the city does need it, it should be open and manned.

Granted, the situation firefighters find themselves in, relative to 'Residency' requirements, is different from most city employees. Working their every-other-day 24-hour shifts and 56 hours per week, firefighters get four consecutive days off following three shifts.

Because they live at the fire station while working, normal family considerations for living near work are removed.

An additional, and even more important consideration for requiring residency is to remove the risk attached to non-residents being placed in key public safety positions, while at the same time, being able to remove themselves from the consequences of their own public decisions.

The best example of the potential danger is provided by striking Toledo municipal employees who are withholding services to the community.

'Residency' would not in itself, eliminate the possibility of illegal public employee strikes. But it would force striking employees to live with the same dangers they are subjecting other residents to.

Coleman Young has equated a non-resident police department to an occupational force. A force acting with impunity and with little concern for long range results of its actions.

We agree.
We believe implications of a residency rule go far beyond the question of simply an employee's obligation to live in the community he draws his living from.

It is a fundamental principle that in order to receive, you must first give. Public employees receive from a community and they must be willing to give something back.

We suggest that communities who now have 'residency' rules, keep those rules. And communities such as Westland, who do not, should reconsider its position and explore methods of reestablishing those rules.

To our readers:

This page in the Associated Newspapers is being made available to the residents of the communities we serve.

Anyone of any age is invited to submit an open letter to their community or to the editor of Associated Newspapers.

We will publish letters on any subject. If you feel you have a plan for solving a city problem, or wish to comment on someone else's plan, this space is being reserved for you.

If you or your group would like to address the community at large, or just an individual, this space is reserved for you.

If you think you can do it better, cheaper, faster, or with more flair, this is the place to tell everyone about it.

You are invited to send your opinions on events, or items of public interest, to the editor of Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Names will be withheld from letters published only for very good reason. The reason must be included in the letter.

The editor reserves the right to edit and/or condense letters where necessary.

Associated Newspapers has just given you a public voice. If a story is worth telling to your neighbor, why not tell it to your whole community.

Bill would promote employee ownership

By DAVID A. PLAWECKI
State Senator

From 1967 until 1973, Michigan lost approximately 200,000 jobs because of some 4,000 plant closings throughout the state. It is statistics such as these that emphasize the impact plant closings, plant-relocations, and conglomerate takeovers of smaller companies are having on Michigan's overall employment picture.

These closings, for whatever reason, are a significant problem and the Michigan Legislature has approved legislation to encourage and assist plant workers who are interested in assuming the ownership and operation of a company facing shutdown.

If House Bill 4119 is signed into law as expected, the Michigan Departments of Labor and Commerce will work together on developing a "Program of Assistance to Worker-Owned Corporations."

This program will assist employees in taking over the ownership and operation of companies that are planning to close their local operation. Among other things, the Departments will meet with the employees, corporate officials, union representatives and local community residents to investigate possible conversion to an employee-ownership plan. This will be done once a company makes a final decision to close its doors.

Once the employee-ownership is deemed feasible by that group, the Department of Labor will work with employees to establish a corporation, obtain financing, find access to employee-management training, and aid them in gaining whatever resources might be needed to complete the transition.

Currently, the Department of Labor is responsible for establishing programs of assistance to workers and local communities facing the loss of jobs. The Department is also experienced in finding federal financial support for assistance programs. Therefore, administration of this new program will be enhanced.

Once the program gets underway its effectiveness will be evaluated by the Department of Labor in three and a half years, with a final report being submitted to the Legislature. If the Legislature fails to extend the program it will expire after a five-year period.

Despite this sunset provision, I am confident the evaluation process will ultimately lead to continuation of the program. In fact, during the last several years attempts on the part of local communities to implement similar measures have proved successful. Among those companies that have been converted to employee-ownership are the Amer-Cel Corporation of Lansing, Michigan, and the South Bend Lathe Company of South Bend, Indiana.

The availability of jobs in Michigan must remain one of our foremost concerns if we are to maintain a healthy economic environment.

Therefore, as chairman of the Senate Labor Committee I am firmly committed to those proposals that will retain jobs in Michigan. Furthermore, I am confident proposals such as House Bill 4119 not only promote jobs but provide an incentive among workers to become actively involved in Michigan's business sector.

'People just helping people'

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

In the living room of the 40-year-old two-story home, the television set played its commercial to an empty room. From the front sidewalk, the strains of a familiar tune appeared to mix with the smoke and flame.

"A.F.S.C.M.E. — AFSCME, AFSCME. People working to help people."

The message lost in the confusion of the moment. The owners of the home, a young couple with a one-year-old son tucked safely under their arms, watched helplessly from the sidewalk as their home and life's investment went up in smoke.

Striking Toledo firefighters stood by and watched.

"People helping People."

The bus driver didn't have enough money. The man stood there with a gun in his face. The sound of the gun shot echoed across the community and only the intentionally disabled Toledo police cars, crowding the parking lot, could have responded, but the drivers of those cars, the Toledo police officers, were on strike.

"People helping People."

This scene, repeating the Dayton, Ohio, experience of last year, again found public service employees pressing their demands for benefits, by withholding vital services to the community which must pay those benefits.

Pressing their advantage, the members of Toledo's AFSCME union, virtually shut down the town. Vacant homes mysteriously burst into flames; local police officers, cruising the city streets, intentionally ignored the traffic signals, stop signs and risked lives while driving the wrong way on one-way streets.

"People helping People." But which people helping which people?

It would be an understatement to say that local public employee unions have an advantage when it comes time to negotiate their new contract with the elected officials representing the city's residents.

Too often, those people elected by the community to do the bargaining, are neither experienced or sufficiently dedicated to saving money to effectively present their case.

Since most are politicians who must face the voters on a regular basis, they must divide their concerns between the communities ability to pay and their ability to wage a coming political campaign.

And actions by the disgruntled Toledo city employees, generates an enormous amount of political heat.

But that is, after all, the very reason why the AFSCME police and firefighters, chose to stand by and watch their community disintegrate. Political pressure.

From this vantage point in time it is useless to second guess the politics which allowed public employees to organize in the first place. But it is possible to see first hand, the potential for chaos which exists when one side of a bargaining group makes the decision that their demands are more important than the entire community.

It happened in Dayton. And it happened recently in Toledo.

It is equally fruitless to dwell on the fact that at one time in our history, such irresponsibly dangerous action by public employees would have been met with an instant outcry from area residents. But not today.

In the age of instant communications, the media seems to have done a much better job in presenting the dissidents viewpoint than it has done in presenting society's. Perhaps that is the way it should and must be.

But that approach assumes that both sides of the dispute are equally dedicated to resolving it to their mutual satisfaction. And therein is the problem.

Mix one public employee union like AFSCME, which does not appear to care an iota who pays for their actions, with weak-knee politicians, who never have to personally foot the bill for any settlement they finally accept, and the result is political expediency which the community must pay for.

Few solutions to the problem are apparent, short of outlawing public service unions. That would require a political decision beyond the abilities of most elected officials. But a beginning would be to again require public employees to live in the community where they work.

At least, then, they would have to face the outraged homeowners whose homes they watched burn to the ground.

Wonder if any of those homes belonged to an AFSCME member!

School promotions unnecessary

Editor:

For the last day of school at Hayti Elementary School in Romulus, the children all received a McDonald's hamburger and orange drink, courtesy of the school P.T.A.

For Halloween and Christmas the kids came home with $1 worth of McDonald's coupons each, also gifts from the P.T.A.

If there are 250 students at Hayti (a rough estimate), likewise $250 went on each occasion to subsidize McDonald's. You'd think a P.T.A. would rather spend that much money on school equipment or books. Parents are usually happy to send an occasional snack treat for school parties.

I hate to see my children's school promoting McDonald's because I feel McDonald's million-dollar advertising campaigns have contributed to giving the American people a false idea about what is important in this world.

Certainly everyone enjoys an occasional fast-food meal, but surveys have shown that families are eating at home less and less, and that for some families fast-food restaurants are a way of life.

Why must we be encouraged to drain our budgets in these times of economic hardship?

Take a look at the homes in the Hayti district, then imagine where those advertising executives live. I'd rather see the P.T.A.'s money spent on educational items that might raise the children's aspirations above a fast-food mentality.

I realize I'm opening myself to criticism for not having been a P.T.A. member myself. It's true; I work full time and felt I needed as much time home with my children as possible.

I did help at their successful school fair this spring, however, and I was very disappointed to see the money earned by working-class volunteer parents used to fatten the huge coffers of one of the richest industries in America.

Article inspiring

Editor:

Your article, "Not Helpless" (June 6, 1979), was most inspiring. It's not often that one comes across such hopeful statistics about mentally retarded persons.

"Seventy-five to eighty-five percent of the more than six million mentally retarded are capable of becoming self-supporting, and ten percent partially self-supporting if they receive adequate training, and only a small portion remain dependent."

Our unit, Alternative Living Services of the Southgate Regional Center for Developmental Disabilities, is working to develop homes for developmentally disabled people who originally resided in southwestern Wayne County but who have resided in large institutions in past years.

In our work, we have been meeting many concerned citizens who are helping us to find and to develop alternative forms of living for this group of people. Our goal is to give the developmentally disabled in this area a chance to live and to work to their fullest potential - hopefully, to become taxpayers and to contribute to society.

Thank you for your positive support.

Festival thanks

Editor:

A special thank you to friends and neighbors and anyone that helped make the Strawberry Festival at St. Anthonys a great success.

I hope through working together in this manner it has brought the people to realize we need and appreciate the support of our fellowman. It gives me a good feeling when I can help someone.

I hope next year we will see more involvement within the town, perhaps in the form of a sidewalk or special sale. This would definitely give a feeling of unity, and show that our town is a community working together.

Ask Carol Premo

By CAROL PREMO, C.S.W.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

You are invited to ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Dear Carol,
I have a friend who is always late. For example, I was supposed to go to a play with her. She was to meet me at my place, then we were supposed to go and pick up two other people. She was 45 minutes late. All of us missed the beginning of the play. We were very annoyed, as such inconveniences have occurred in the past.

mentioned my irritation and she just laughed and said that promptness is not necessary, it is a sign of being compulsive and rigid. I do not agree. Is there some way to get this across, or am I wrong to be frustrated, and should I view her as a free, unfettered spirit who cannot change.

Thank you,
Waiting

Dear Waiting,
I certainly agree with you that it is very frustrating and irritating to wait for someone who is habitually late. This is however generally not the sign of an "unfettered spirit" but rather an insecure and at times manipulative individual. Your friend may be seeking attention or desiring to control a situation where she feels uncomfortable. Many people feel is one desires attention that the attention sought will be positive, but the opposite is often true, such as the small child who misbehaves or talks in class in an attempt to get attention. They want the focus to be on them regardless if it is socially acceptable or not. You probably will be unable to change your friend in view of the fact you have already mentioned her behavior to her and to no avail, so by all means do not rely on her, drive alone, make your own arrangements when going out.

Dear Carol,
I have a problem that I need to talk to someone about, but it seems like everybody at school like the counselors and staff are all women. Isn't there a man around who I could talk to?

Need to Talk

It is frequently much easier to talk with someone of the same sex about a problem. This is particularly true when you are younger. I get the impression from your letter that you have not yet reached high school. Would you trust one of these female counselors enough to have her arrange for you to talk to a man? It is not impossible for them to arrange for a male social worker to come into the school. She won't have to know what your problem is. She is there to help you. If that does not work, how about asking your mom or dad to set something up for you. Parents sometimes like to know how their kids are feeling and frequently are interested in helping. There is absolutely nothing wrong in admitting you would like to talk to someone. In fact that acknowledgement is not a sign of weakness, but a sign of strength.

Dear Carol,
We were talking the other night and I said I don't believe that people send these letters in. You must write the questions as well as the answers. Maybe people in big cities get involved in nonsense like this, but not around here. If anyone in this neighborhood was beating their wife, everyone would know about it. Come on Premo, fess up!

From a small town and love it!

Dear Love It,
Where have you been! People all over, in cities, as well as townships, have areas of concern and confusion they would like to discuss. As for me I have enough problems writing the answers, let alone writing the questions.

Reflections

"Sounds like my Seth"

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

This is a ghost story.
You may not believe it, and I don't believe it if you don't believe it, because I hardly believe it myself and it happened to me.

It happened a long time ago while we were still living on the farm close by Snake River.

Each morning I would have to trudge down the long lane, accompanied by tumbleweeds, to the highway where I stood with four other youngsters waiting for the mail truck to come along and take us to school. School was across the river... four miles away.

Each evening after school, unless otherwise planned, I had to grab up my peanut butter bucket and race for the post office a few blocks away, so that I might catch the mail truck as it was leaving for the day.

I usually made it, but the story I am going to tell you is about the day I didn't make it.

It was winter. The winds were brisk and cold, hard to walk against. I had tried to brave them for almost a block and finally decided that the only way I could win would be to join them. I turned by back and walked backwards the rest of the way. There were a lot of things to see when one was walking backwards that had never been seen walking forwards, and so I would have to stop and look and ponder. After all, when one is six years old there is a great deal to ponder. And so I missed the mail truck.

The man behind the counter scolded me and told me I had better hightail it home or I would get a whipping, which I didn't believe for a minute. Nevertheless, I hightailed it, for it got dark early in the wintertime and I had that long, long bridge to cross.

When I thought of the bridge I stopped. "I can't go across that bridge alone," I whispered. But I knew I had to or I would never get home and I would have to live on this side of the bridge forever.

I was shaking a lot by the time I got to the river. The wind was sharp and loud and my coat was little protection against its chill. The waves on the river leaped up as though beckoning me and I could hear the bridge groan as it seemed to sway in the blasts of the wind.

Tears rolled down my cheeks. I put out one foot and almost touched the bridge, but terror overwhelmed me and I drew it quickly back.

"I can't, I can't..." I sobbed.
It was growing darker and strange things darted around, whipping at my legs and then skipping away. The bridge groaned. The wind shrieked.

I let out a long shuddering scream, but no one heard. I put out another foot and drew it back. Again I tried, and it was on that try that I felt a hand on my shoulder. Turning quickly I saw a shadow, wispy looking old man, with a long, white beard. "Come," he whispered, and gently held me as we stepped on the bridge. His arm reached around me and he pulled me close to him as we waded across the river. I felt safe. Secure and unafraid, although the old man's appearance was quite fearful to behold.

It was almost dark when we touched on the other side, but he didn't leave me. He said nothing, but he held my hand and we walked along the road towards home, the tumbleweeds falling about us and the wind causing the trees to almost touch ground as they bent with the force of it.

And then we heard the clippety-clop of a horse's hooves, and in the dark loomed a horse and buggy.

"Joyce, Joyce," I heard my mother cry, and breaking away from the old man I ran to the buggy. She leaped down and held me close while we both sobbed. And then I remembered my friend.

"Mother," I cried. "The man who brought me across the bridge is awfully old and I think he needs a ride back to town."

"Where is he?" Mother asked, peering into the dusk.

"Right there," I pointed and the old man smiled at me, blew me a kiss, and faded into the darkness.

I never saw him again. My father questioned the townspeople, but no one had any recollection of such an old man, except Martha, the old blind woman, who lived near the bridge.

"That sounds like my Seth," she said. "But he done died these many a year ago. But it sure do sound like him."

And so I remember Seth, and through the years I have always wished that all other little children who were afraid, or in danger, could have their own special Seth to look after them. His touch was so gentle. His smile so sweet.

Entertaining outside means having everything organized and convenient so everyone has a good time.

The idea to use my 30 qt. coffee pot for the childrens drinks came after I found half filled bottles of pop scattered around the yard after the last party. I filled the coffee pot with lemonade and had an ice bucket and plastic glasses handy on a small table in the shade outside.

This way even the small children are able to help themselves to something to drink without any waste.

Carol B., Wayne

When toilet training my daughter the use of time and patience seemed to be the key to success. She did real well and then all of a sudden she started wetting the bed again at night.

After talking with other mothers I discovered that is not uncommon for a child to be completely trained and then suddenly revert back to wetting the bed. So together we devised a reward system. We hung a small calendar by her bed and then every morning that she woke up dry she was rewarded with a star on that day. We kept this up until she had one whole month filled with stars.

Now almost three years later we are using that same reward system but for a different problem. About a month ago she started waking up in the middle of the night and then she would come and get in bed with Mom and Dad.

After talking the situation over with her I was able to convince her that she would be alot more rested if she spent the whole night sleeping in her own bed. To her sheer delight it has only taken a couple of weeks for her to obtain seven stars in a row.

I wonder if any future problems will arise when we will again find ourselves using this same calendar star reward system.

This little tip has saved both Mother and Son a little frustration.

Judy M., Woodhaven

My grandchildren love to spend the night at Grandmothers house. Usually they are real good about going right to sleep once they are in bed. This last time that I had three spend the night I was unusually tired so of course they were unusually rambunctious. I knew that it would take them awhile to get to sleep so I told them that whoever got to sleep first would find a surprise under their pillow when they woke up in the morning.

Even the two year old who can hardly talk understood completely what a surprise meant. Those kids ran right to bed and I never heard another peep out of them until morning. They were delighted to find that they had all won the contest when each one of them found a few pennies under their pillow.

Many experts on child behavior say that young people are more likely to grow up self-reliant if they spend more time with peers than with parents. Many parents find that sending their children to full-time, private, sleepaway camps is a good way to ensure this.

Children in a camping environment can learn to improve their behavior through peer approval. They learn to cope with personal situations, and they learn how to be graceful in victory and not frustrated by defeat. America's private camps offer a variety of programs. For a free directory to help you pick a camp that meets your child's needs, write to the Booklet Department, Association of Private Camps, 55 West 12nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10036.

Dixboro church hosts Festival

Exhibitors of hand-made art and craft items are invited to participate in Dixboro United Methodist Church's Third Annual Festival.

The event will be held from 1 to 9 p.m. July 28 on the Village Green of Dixboro, a small community located on Plymouth Road, three miles east of U.S. 23.

In addition to exhibits, there will be a chicken barbecue, ice cream, homemade cakes and cookies and carnival games. The event attracted more than 2,500 persons last year.

Each exhibitor will be provided a 10-foot by 10-foot space on the Village Green or the adjacent schoolhouse. Exhibits are limited to hand-made items by the exhibitors. Spaces will be allocated in order of receipt of application. A $10 to $15 donation to the church is being suggested for each vendor.

Interested exhibitors should obtain an application by contacting Exhibits Chairperson Diane LaPointe at 764-7399 (days) or 668-7987 (evenings), or by writing to her in care of Dixboro United Methodist Church, 5221 Church Road, Ann Arbor 48105.

Applications must be returned no later than July 20.

Studio socking it to Major's

Thomas jolts second place Hideaway

Studio Lounge, the kingpin in the Westland Parks and Recreation Department's Major Division men's softball league, opened up a two-game gap as they pounded Metro Maintenance and P & P Distributors last week.

While Studio was hard at work earning their 11th and 12th victories of the season, second place Hideaway was upset by fourth place Joe Thomas, 10-9.

The league-leaders have piled up a 12-1 record and have built up a two-game cushion over the runners-up, Hideaway and Jamies which are 10-3 on the year.

Dennis Rowgowski gave up 12 hits, three to Larry Ayotte and two each to Larry Reed and Dave Conrad as Studio mauled the maintenance supply people 24-5. Meanwhile, Studio's Bud Daniels drilled an over-the-fence homer, tripled and singled for six runs batted in to lead the winners. Tom Wilmot also homered for one of his three hits. He had three RBIs. Pat Kelly turned in with three hits against loser Charlie Meyers.

Dennis Kessick missed posting a rare shutout in Studio's overwhelming 19-1 victory over P & D

Distributors. The losers scored in the top of the third thanks to Bob Sharp who accounted for three hits.

John Irwin slammed a homer and collected three other hits off of loser Sharp who also gave up an over-the-fence homer to Bill Pierce and four hits including a triple and double to Jim Kholman.

Joe Thomas scored five runs in the third, then hung on as Hideaway tried desperately to catch up. Steve Patterson was charged with the loss as he was tagged for 14 hits, including and over-the-fence round-tripper by Mark Mays who also had two hits. Bob Thaxton and Randy Temple latched on to four singles between them against winner Joe Cooley.

Cooley got ample hitting support from John Lee, who had three hits, Dave Wyrabkiewicz, who had a triple and two singles and Jon Marmul who clubbed a homer and singled for three RBIs.

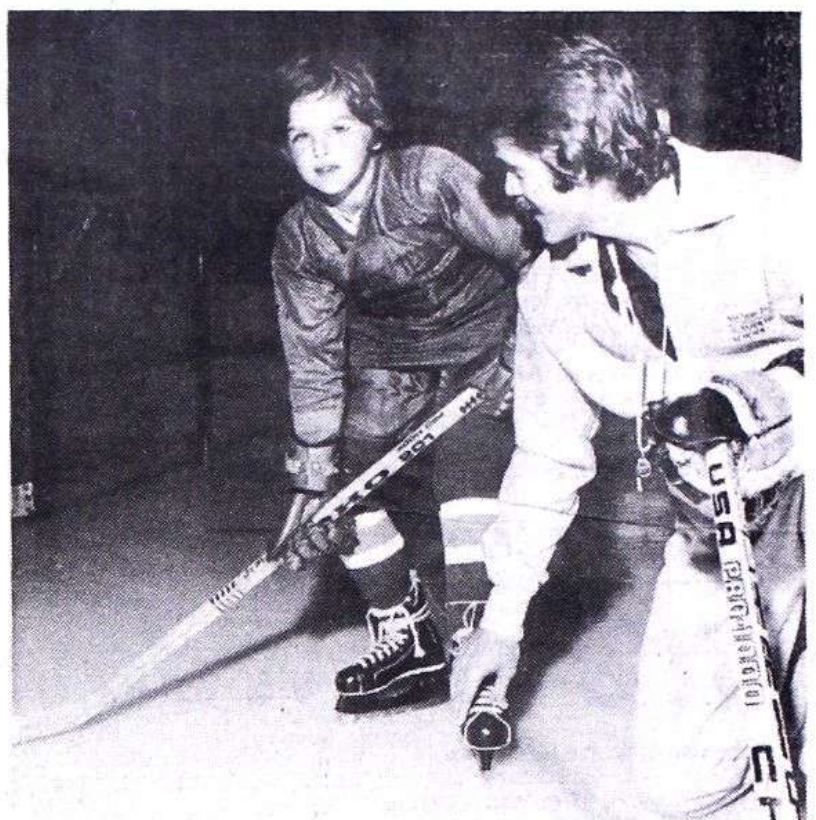

Cooley came back and scattered seven hits as Joe Thomas blanked Leaseaway 19-0. The Thomas pitcher helped his cause by lacing five singles and driving in three runs. Jim Ferrari also checked in with three RBI thanks to four singles. Murray McLeod hammered out a pair of singles and a double off of loser Mike McGill.

Dave Winkler and Steve Riddle each had a pair of hits and scored twice for Leaseaway.

Jamies belted six home runs in subduing P & P 35-2 for their triumph. Scoring nine runs in the first inning and a phenomenal 17 in the second, they could have quit then. Jerry Dettler put three balls into orbit that landed over the fence. He also had two doubles and a total

Dun Rovin beckons city golf title hopefuls

The Sports Meridian

Word to the wise

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Before I permit my readers to invade this column and express their viewpoints - and counterpoints - let me caution those who have not made up their minds and are teetering on the subject of playing in the City Golf Championships.

In the past we were allowed some leeway to accommodate our friends who were late in registering because, the fact was we were handling all of the legwork. This year it will not be possible to sneak into the tournament after the deadline. The basics are being handled by the Westland Parks and Recreation Department and city governments are pretty strict when it comes to rules and regulations.

The tournament will be held July 28-29 at Dun Rovin which is located on Haggerty Rd. in Plymouth and at the rate the entries are coming in, the allowed limit of 125 golfers will be reached long before the established deadline, Friday, July 20.

Remember what they say about 'he who hesitates...' Let's turn to our readers and see what's on their minds:

Dear Sir:

Thank you for giving the readers the complete story regarding the removal of Inkster basketball coach George Thompson Jr. For seldom are we given the particulars regarding such removals, other than he was not producing a winning team.

Had he allowed the members of the Inkster team to continue drinking on the bus ride home, what respect would they or any other members of the team have for mentors such as he?

Was Mr. Thompson hired just to produce basketball teams on the court but not on the stage of life? Was he not looking out for their welfare, should something happen before they arrived home? And are rules made to be broken?

Mr. Thompson having released the players being involved in the drinkfest, Inkster had a losing season. I was just wondering what the members of the Inkster Board of Education would have done if the same problem which confronted Coach Thompson had confronted one of them.

It is inconceivable for me to understand their actions. I hope that the voters in the school district will remember this the next time around.

Sincerely,
Charles Dick Jr.

DEAR MR. MOORADIAN,

I would like to thank you for all of your cooperation in assisting us with informing the public about our tennis tournament. Your article enabled us to draw teams from Garden City, Wayne, Westland, Canton - I could not believe the response!

The final draw for the tournament included 40 teams for three different divisions, including many former All-Area tennis players, high school and collegiate players.

I am very sure that the tournament would have been a more successful one if we had cooperation from the weatherman.

Despite the inclement weather, we had an excellent turnout. There is no doubt in my mind that the turnout was in direct response to your story. People turn to your pages before they turn to anything else.

Again thank you.

Sincerely,
Jeff Holderness,
Canton Parks and Recreation Department

Dear Jeff,

Thank you for the kind words
P.S. Never underestimate the power of the press.

It's now or never

Recognized as one of the largest amateur golf tournaments of its kind, the City Championships for the cities of Westland, Wayne, Garden City, Inkster and Canton Township will be decided on the Par 72, 18-hole, 6,850 yard Dun Rovin golf course at 16377 Haggerty Rd. in Plymouth the weekend of July 28-29. Golfers are urged to sign up as soon as possible at their parks and recreation departments or at the offices of the Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Ave., West. There is a $20 registration fee and make checks payable to City of Westland, Treasurer.

Above is a shot taken last year of a couple of golfers getting set for a practice round before the competition. Golfers also are welcomed at Dun Rovin to practice up for the pending tournament, however, spectators and walkers are not permitted on the golf course because of a possibility they could be injured. Further information about the tournament may be obtained by telephoning ANP Sports Editor Tom Mooradian (729-1000) on Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. or on Sunday between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Romulus is designated host for Little League tourney

Romulus Little League baseball fans will have a tournament right in their own backyard this year.

Next week teams from Northwest Detroit, Redford, and Taylor will join Romulus North Little League's All-Star team in fighting it out for the right to play in the district playoffs.

"We have been designated as the host city and organization for the 14 and 15 year old Little League teams," said Jack Morris, president of the North Little League baseball organization. "Obviously we're very happy and proud to get such a tournament in our city."

Games will be played at the newly-constructed baseball complex located at Henry Ruff behind Beverly Park.

The tournament will be staged July 19-20-21. In the opening game, Romulus drew Northwest Detroit. The game is scheduled to get underway at 3:30 p.m. In the nightcap, slated for 6 p.m., Taylor will play Redford. The two winners will meet the following day at 3:30 p.m., and the losers clash in a consolation game on July 21 at 3:30 p.m.

North will be guided in the tournament by manager Charlie Blanton and the team will be coached by Robert Weslin.

Romulus North also will be sending an All-Star team to Taylor for the Little League 13-year-old tournament which will get underway in that city on July 25. The manager and coach of the local entry are Tom Vernatt and Frank Kudla, respectively.

In the first round of the 11-12 Little League tournament also designated for Taylor, Michigan on July 19, Romulus' Major All-Stars were fortunate to draw a bye.

Bill Paton will manage that team while he'll be assisted by Rupert Terry as coach.

8 days left to sign up for tourney

All indications are that those who are aspiring to win city championships in the Associated Newspapers-Parks and Recreation annual golf tournament are out at Dun Rovin getting in practice rounds before the July 28-29 classic.

But they are also creating a problem, according to Jack Nelson, Dun Rovin pro.

"We have lot of golfers come out here and mention that they are practicing up for the tournament," Nelson said, "which is fine and dandy with us."

"However, they are bringing along with them walkers and speculators and unfortunately we can't permit them on the golf course because of our insurance policy."

"Spectators can catch the action at the 9 and 18th holes, but that's all we're permitted to let them do," Nelson said. He went on to point out that "I want all of your golfers to know that the golf course is in super shape."

The tournament, now in its 20th year, is a two-day affair staged annually to pick out the top five amateur male golfers from the following cities: Westland, Wayne, Inkster, Canton and Garden City. The five top finishers in each of the cities will represent their cities at the annual Michigan Parks and Recreation Tournament which will be staged sometime in September.

The city championships are decided on low score (medal play) of 36 holes. Golfers will play their first 18 holes on Saturday, return Sunday for the final round.

The separate city championships are held simultaneously and additional flight competition is staged for each city only if total entry from that city is sufficient. Trophies are awarded to first, second and third place finishers in each of the flights.

There is a $20 registration fee which covers green's and trophy costs. Please fill out the entry blank accompanying this story and mail or drop it off at the Westland Parks and Recreation Department, 36651 Ford Rd. Please make checks payable to CITY OF WESTLAND, TREASURER.

Entries also will be accepted at the offices of the Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Ave., West.

Further information about the golf tournament may be obtained by telephoning Sports Editor Tom Mooradian, 729-400 during the week, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. or on Sunday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Westland co-leaders have to sweat it out

Next time Jamies' will probably take McCurdy's Optical more seriously.

Jamies', the Westland Parks and Recreation White Division Softball co-leader, had to fight off a determined McCurdy's to earn its sixth victory in seven starts, 8-7.

Jamies' and Westland Party are atop of the league.

After Jamies got to loser Tom DiLaura for three runs in the first and five in the third, the McCurdy hurler buckled down and pitched scorelessly from the third on, while his teammates came up with a run in the fifth, two more in the sixth and four in the seventh.

DiLaura's nemesis was Pat Shannon, the winning pitcher, who aided his cause with a three-run homer. Scott Fowler slapped two doubles and Scott Hare checked in with a double and single.

Shannon had his problems with Joe Warren who latched on to two three-baggers and drove in two runs. DiLaura collected a single and double off of Shannon who also

Correction

Because of a mix-up in the June 28th edition of The Associated Newspapers' sports section, the photo of Skip Walker was incorrectly identified. The correct photo is at the right.

Walker, voted unanimously by coaches to the all-conference baseball team in the Great Lakes 8 Conference, was given equal recognition on the ANP's All-Area team.

The 6'2", 185-pound Wayne Memorial senior, was picked at the conference's co-MVP during the 1979 campaign after batting over .300.

Yanks pound title door

They've won 10 in a row

If there is a better team than the Yanks in Wayne's Class F American League, it hasn't showed itself.

The undefeated Yanks subdued the Ocelots 10-4 behind the combined pitching efforts of Brian Mac and Pat Snepson, and also buried the Tigers 13-3 to stretch their winning streak to 10 games this season.

Snepson and Mac each hammered homers against the Tigers who couldn't match the league-leaders' over-all hitting power. The Yanks belted out 16 hits while the Tigers were checked by three Yank hurlers - Ronnie and Danny White and Mac on four.

Two of those four hits went to Dale

Fisher.

Brian Mac had a perfect three-for-three while Snepson finished with three for five. Randy Newman and Ronnie White each had two hits.

Snepson stepped in as a reliever in the sixth for Mac against the Ocelots and struck out three successive batters the 10-4 victory. Jeff Hawley banged out a triple and a pair of singles and had two RBIs for the losers.

Jeff Kaminski batted in five runs thanks to a four-for-four day and Mike Derozier, Doug Mac and Ronnie White each had two hits for the winners.

Meanwhile, the Twins kept their hold on second place as they destroyed the National League Cubs 12-3. Bob Cantrell fired a one-hitter for three innings and received two-hit relief help from Dan Matusch to post the victory.

Matusch also helped out at the plate as he laced a homer, double and single and accounted for four runs batted in. Jim Pennington had a pair of hits including a double and teammate Brian Brozowski latched on to a roundtripper and double.

Meanwhile, over in Class E, Tim Rooney fired a superb one-hitter as the Colts shut out the Wolverines 4-0. Rooney's bid for a no-hitter was spoiled by Rich Wohlfel who singled in the third.

The Colts' hurler worked seven innings, fanned six and walked two to earn credit for the decision, his first shutout of the campaign.

Pete Stano slammed two singles while teammates Mike LeBlanc and John Wilson each doubled off of loser Bob Hawley who also was tough on the mound. Hawley notched 12 strikeouts, walked four and gave up an equal number of hits.

The Wolverines rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh to edge the Bears 11-10 as Jerry Perusse and Joe Samples combined on an 8-hitter. Mark Pogot and Kevin Rodriguez split four singles for the loser who also got a two-run double from Eric Rakotz.

Samples also had a sterling day at the plate where he carved out a triple, two doubles and drove home two runs. Perusse helped his cause with a pair of hits. Wohlfel and Hawley each checked in with two singles.

The Colts came up with two runs in the top of the seventh to pull out a close 4-3 victory over the Lions as pitcher Mike LeBlanc blasted a run-scoring triple to aid in his cause.

LeBlanc gave up three hits - all singles - to three different players: Charlie Hall, Shaun Boyer and Dan Ochoa.

The Beavers rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh but fell short 4-3 in their confrontation with the Bears. Keith Odom, the winner, hurled a two-hitter, whiffed 16 but had his problems as he allowed 11 batters to reach base on balls. Teammate Mark Pajot tripled and singled while Rodriguez laced a three-bagger and drove in two runs.

Troy Lindon sustained the loss, wasting an excellent five-hit pitching performance. Lindon also accounted for two of his team's runs as he drilled a pair of singles and walked in four appearances at the plate.

The Rams scored three runs in the third and that was all they needed in their 4-2 victory over the Beavers. Paul Watson's triple drove in one of the loser's runs, while Jim Allen collected two singles. Dean Saranas got credit for the victory. Greg VanHoffman and Jeff Thompson worked five and two innings respectively for the Beavers.

Joe Samples smacked a single and double and tossed a four-hitter but it wasn't enough as the Wolverines were left on the shortend of a 6-1 count with the Lions. The Lions received excellent play out of Charlie Hall who scored two runs and stole four bases after getting aboard twice.

In senior loop

It's showdown time

Take your pick: the Post Office or the WAOA - they're running neck-and-neck for the Westland Community Organizational men's softball championship.

And the two will decide this week which will remain on top of the standings.

Both teams have compiled 6-1 records after lopsided victories over would-be rivals. The WAOA plastered JC Blue Chipes 16-10, while the Post Office shut the doors on Westland Hockey, 11-4.

The postmen tilted the scoreboard for six runs in the bottom of the fourth to break a 4-all tie as Jim Tromeur, Ron Bostick and Kay Boyagian paved the way. Tromeur homered and tripled off of loser Randy Griffin who also gave up two hits, including a double and triple to Bostick and a pair of singles to Boyagian.

Winner Cliff Orr had his problems getting Griffin out. Griffin smacked three singles. Teammate Dave Winn laced two hits, including a triple.

Trailing 10-6 in the bottom of the third, WAOA chipped away at the Jaycees' lead with a pair of three-run innings (fifth and sixth) after scoring two in the fourth. Leading the assault on losing hurler Chuck Pickering was Bob Kaump whose homer, triple and two singles accounted for three RBIs. Ron Chomiuk slammed a single and double while Phil Matinez checked in with a triple and single for the winners.

Koump, off to a precarious start after giving up three runs in the first and seven in the third, hung on to chalk up the victory. Pickering got two (both singles) of the 14 hits off of Koump. Bob Bailey and Mike Mushett each had singles and doubles and two RBIs for the losers.

Dad's Athletic Club broke a 12-all tie with a run in the bottom of the seventh to edge the Gold Chips 13-12. The Chips piled up 17 hits off of winner Hank Blayer who served up three singles to Bob Alves and a single and double each to Bruce Thompson and Mike Keherer.

Keherer was charged with the loss. He delivered three hits to Chris Razor who homered. Mike Sigler belted three singles and Dave Gorshek chased home two runs with a double and triple.

In Class C softball

Best is yet to come

Hang on to your Wayne Class C softball hats, folks, the best is still to come.

Tri-City Carpets and the Pirates, breaking away from the eight-team pack, are deadlocked on top of the league each with 10-2 records.

And they'll probably be playing for all of the marbles when the meet the next time around.

The Pirates spotted the fifth-place Sambos five runs in the first inning, then went on to salvage a 15-10 victory behind Bill Wilson's eight-hitter. Wilson was touched up for two singles and two runs batted in by Tracy Sugg. Tom Sass also sliced a run-scoring single for the bersers.

Meanwhile, loser Dave Derminer had his hands full trying to get Randy Allen, Mike Sharp and Randy Belt out. Belt slammed three hits: a single, double, and triple and missed getting the cycle. He had three RBIs. Allen and Sharp also had three hits.

The Possums played dead for six innings and came alive for five runs in the top of the seventh, but it was too late as Tri-City won a 11-8 ball game to hold on to its share of first place.

Tom Piscopink, who looks good swinging a bat or a golf club, drilled a two-run double. Teammates Paul Gayer and Walt Dietz chipped in with three and two hits respectively. One of Gayer's hits went for the distance.

Duncan McDonald twirled a 13-hitter and was the winner. John Netherton connected for three hits and three RBIs off of him. He missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to card a HR.

Gary Druchiak stroked a two-run single and Peter Martin's double scored another Possum run.

In other action, last place Unistrut picked up its third win in 12 starts at the expense of the fourth place Wayne Jaycees 11-9 as winning hurler Rick Crawford pitched a nine-hitter. Larry Keleman had three hits and two RBIs for the Jaycees who also received two hits each from Dale Helton and John Abee.

Loser Gary Kowalske served up 14 hits: three to Dale Hicks who tripled, and two apiece to Crawford, Mike Gnaznak, Mark Woodruff and Carl Karcher who carded a pair of doubles.

The Jaycees also dropped a 7-0 decision to Woolf Aircraft when they failed to field the necessary numbers for the game and forfeited.

Unistrut's erratic play cost them a 19-15 decision to ATI who exploded for nine runs in the third inning and hung on to win their fourth in 12 starts.

ATI's Paul Young sliced three singles and teammates Julius Edwards, Mark Derranes each had two hits while Dave Teets and Bob Rykalsky had a double and a single.

Young, the winning pitcher served up a triple and single to Carl Karcher and also two hits each to Lance Hicks, Ron Swan and to Crawford, who wasted a homer and single in digesting the loss.

Runs in family

Playing for championship teams apparently runs in the Payne family. Both Jody (at left) and older brother, Jeff, play for teams in the Westland Youth Athletic Association, and last week their clubs captured first place trophies during the Westland Spring Festival Tournaments. They're showing off their championship trophies. Jody is a fifth grader at Madison, while Jeff attends Stevenson Junior High where he's in the seventh grade. Both also happen to play third base and are coached by Walter Sulak. Jeff's team, the Bulls, defeated the Colts 5-4 which qualified it for the All-Star championship scheduled for July 16.

Rheem stays atop Van Buren standing

Paul Lauth lashed out with a pair of homer runs and Mark Fromer tossed a six hitter as league-leading Rheem's Mfg. overwhelmed Apollo. Expediting for its sixth victory in seven outings in the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Softball League.

Rheem's struck quickly to assure itself of the victory as it put four runs on the board in the first inning off of losing pitcher Bruce Wyke who gave up a total of 16 hits, three of those to Lauth. Lauth singlehandedly accounted for five RBIs. Teammate Bill Houle drove in two runs on a triple and homer.

Fromer helped his cause along with a pair of singles and the Anguilm brothers - Pat and Jim - each had two hits.

Fromer scattered six hits among four players: Paul Drucker, Bob Murray, Tim Ellsworth and Kevin O'Keefe.

Earlier, Rheem's disposed of Burhop's 16-8 as Fromer turned in with a 10-hitter and survived a five-run fourth which momentarily gave the bersers a 6-5 lead.

Lauth drilled a three-run homer and had two other hits - both singles - off of loser Tom Bies. Mike Anguilm sliced three hits, a triple and a pair of singles while Randy Elgars also checked in with three hits. Pat Anguilm hammered a three-run roundtripper.

Dale Butler touched up Fromer for three hits, including a home run. Tom Wegela missed hitting for the cycle off of the Rheem pitcher who gave up a pair of runs to Spangler and Kinsella.

Draw-Tite rallied for eight runs in the fifth to put down a pesky Apollo line-up, 16-10, as Jim Easley chalked up the victory. Easley was tagged for 17 hits: three each by Ellsworth, Ryzner and Wykes.

Wykes was the loser. He served up three hits and three RBIs to Doug Guzal and three hits to Dale Zilka. Both Pete Korgal and John Reed finished the night with a single and homer with Reed scoring three times.

of nine RBIs. Chris Murphy slammed a pair of roundtrippers and a single and double while Tim Abramski finished up with three singles and a homer off of loser Dennis Neidy. Tony Pilarski, the winning pitcher, was tagged for three hits, one a homer by Vince Porcelli. Rog Finch and Jeff Yoshikawa got the other two.

Leaseway came up with nine big ones in the sixth inning to edge Abbey Roadhouse 18-14 as winning pitcher Joe Kadlec tossed a 17-hitter. Jim Taylor, who had a pair of doubles in three hits, Jeff Watson, with a triple in three hits and Walt Wolfe with a single and double led the losers. Wolfe delivered four hits to Mark Williams and three singles each to Winkler and Kadlec.

In other action, Dearborn Real Estate erupted for eight runs in the bottom of the seventh to win a narrow 17-16 decision over the Disciples. Jeff Carter was the winner. He served two hits each to Dan Luke, Bill Disch (both doubles) and Dale Luke who had a pair of singles.

Rob McGuire was charged with the loss. Don Thomas got three hits, including a triple off of him, while Chris Drake and Steve Fedulcuk each had two hits.

Yanks

Hall, who went the distance, fired a two-hitter as he notched 10 whiffs and walked four.

The Wolverines managed to score two runs in the first inning and put two more on the scoreboard in the fourth as they turned back the Beavers 4-1 thanks to Perusse's two-hitter. The Wolverine hurler also chalked up 12 strikeouts and walked three. He gave up a double to Greg VanHoffman and two hits to Eric Mac.

Loser Troy Lindon worked his way to a five hitter, serving up singles to Steve Coleman, Al Spencer, Perusse, Joe LeBeau and a double to Rick Depoole.

It was Depoole's fourth inning double that produced two of the runs which broke a close 2-1 defensive duel.

The Rams struck for a run in the second inning but the Colts came back to even it up in the third and erupted for two runs in each of the fifth and seventh frames in a 5-1 triumph over their rivals.

LeBlanc pitched a two hitter, giving up a double to Jeff Shifford and a single to Jim Little, to post the victory.

Loser Saranas, who went the distance, pitched well enough to win. He had a three-hitter to his credit - all singles - to LeBlanc, Jeff Blazer and Rooney - but his teammates weren't able to produce the key hits.

In other games, the Lions edged the Bears 6-5, while the Lions roared back and mauled the Beavers 15-8. The Bears edged the Rams 2-1 behind Eric Rakotz' two-hit pitching gem.

2 Westland women's softball teams undefeated

It's definitely a two-team title race in the Westland Women's Softball League.

After eight games, Alberta Thomas and Studio Lounge remain undefeated and, barring unforeseeable circumstances, the two are destined to meet for the championship.

Alberta Thomas throttled the Player's Lounge in an abbreviated game, 20-8, due to the time limit, while Studio stayed perfect with an equally impressive 16-2 victory over the County Mounties.

Alberta's Sheryl Chomiuk gave up 12 hits, three to Tonya Riggs, two to Barb Wilcox, who also tripled and a run-scoring single to Joan Pierson to chalk up the victory.

Gloria Gianne drove in four runs as she connected for a homer, double and single off of Players' Carol Celmer who also served four hits, including a triple to Becky Brown. Kary Beteau belted three hits.

Studio had a pair of six-run innings (third and fifth) which were more than enough to handcuff County Mounties' Jean Hamilton. Ms. Hamilton delivered three hits to Maureen McIntosh whose circuit clout, double and single produced four Studioruns. Jackie Randall and Sharon Winkler collected three and two hits respectively.

Mary Traynor fired a seven hitter, giving up run-scoring singles to Dawn Lalonde, and Pam Coleman.

Meanwhile, J & D Auto kept its slim title hopes alive with an 18-1 triumph over Rocco's. It was their sixth victory in eight starts. Shelly Arner twirled a five-hitter, but one of those was a two-run homer to Barb Wray. Cindy Watts and Cris Watts scored after clubbing singles for the losers.

Lisa Pocaro led the assault on loser Doris Madar who gave up a homer, triple and single to the J & D slugger. Kathy Hibler missed hitting for the cycle when she failed to homer. Hibler and Pocaro each had three RBIs. Debbie Junk blasted three hits, including a four-bagger for the winners.

Johnny Shell's pounded out 18 hits en route to an 18-4 victory over Jamie's and pitcher Judy Griroicki who was tagged for 10, including a homer, pair of doubles and single by Peggy Stevens. Karen Austin and Sheryl Schaffer split six singles for the winners. Diane Staron and Darlene Pierson each had two hits and Judy Borg a run-scoring single off of winner Sheryl Schaffer.

Scoring the first five innings, Hair Affair suddenly came alive and scored 13 runs in the sixth but it wasn't enough as they fell to Bev's Girls 16-13. Loser Sue Thompson gave up a couple of roundtrippers and two singles to Colleen Dittmar. Jeanette Gwizdak had a homer and two singles while Rebecca Denewith finished the game with three hits for the winners.

Thompson collected three hits, including a pair of doubles and three RBIs off of winner Bev Liverance who was touched for three singles by Geri LaPere and two singles by Carla Smarr.

Warriors make it 8 straight

Blue Division Westland leaders 2-games up

After exchanging two runs in the first inning, the Westland Warriors went on a seven-run scoring rampage in the third inning to put down Ken's Standard 15-9 and increase their lead over the second-place team by two games.

It was the Warriors' ninth consecutive victory against no losses this season in the Westland Blue Division men's softball league.

Larry McConnell, the winning hurler, regained his poise after a shaky start and held Ken's to 10 hits. Dave Treacher and John Rayburn each had two hits for the losers. John Hughes' double produced one run.

Treacher, the loser, gave up a homer and single to Tim Dumouchelle. He was also tagged for three hits, including a triple by McConnell while John Hughes slammed a pair of two-baggers and had two RBIs.

The Warriors had to come-from-behind to put down an upset minded fifth-place Jon's Goodtime Bar 14-6 also last week. The league-leaders saw their 3-1 edge vanish in the bottom of the fourth when the losers scored four runs runs to go ahead 5-3.

But the Warriors evened things up with a three-run fifth and won it on a six-run spree in the sixth. Winning pitcher Cal Clough got ample support from Dumouchelle who tripled and homered in three runs. McConnell and Brian Parrish split a pair of singles and doubles.

Clough scattered seven hits, but one of those was a three-run round-tripper to Cliff Williamson. Russ Morine also had a single and double for the losers. Terry Taft was charged with the loss. He threw a 10-hitter.

In other games, Jake's Lounge kept its third-place status as it overpowered Playmate Lounge 17-3 behind Corky Hayes's 10-hit pitching. Dave McDonald and Larry Steffan each had two hits, including run-scoring singles off of Hays.

Loser Jim Graham had problems with Kyle Fitzgerald who connected for three hits. Steve Basharrak and Keith Wells singled and doubled with the later putting three RBIs on the board.

Gary Kowalske shut out Local 25, 15-0, as he fired a six-hitter which included two hits for Dave Rietzel and a double by Matt Graf.

Tom Scarrow was rough on loser Jim Warner as he stroked two balls for over-the-fence homers and doubled. Warner also gave up four hits to Tony Simmons and a single and double to Cal Sailor.

In the only other game, Playmate Lounge didn't play around with the union people as it exploded for 13 runs in the first inning en route to an easy 23-4 triumph. Warner, again the losing hurler, delivered five hits to Carl Townie who hit for the cycle and also had a pair of homers. Arnie Hinters laced a roundtripper for one of his three hits and Dave McDonald blasted three doubles.

Winning hurler Gary Alexander gave up three of his nine hits to Mike Walton. John Zachowski had two singles for the losers who have won one of seven games this year.

served up a two-run double to Gary Johnson.

All-Star Sports also sweated for its fifth victory in six starts as it stayed close on the heels of the frontrunners. The third-place Stars erupted for seven runs in the last inning to eke out a 11-7 victory over Progressive Metal which slipped to .500 (4-4).

Winner Bob Dehort whirled a 11-hitter as Le Gordon bagged three doubles off of him. Tom Doupe slammed a homer, double and single. Tom Hartzen turned in with a two-run double for the losers.

Loser Ted Rize was tagged for a homer by Bill Lloyd who had two RBIs. Ernie White and Mark Swain each had a single and double apiece.

In the only other White Division game, Hamm's Bears outit Nankin Auto Parts 9-8 but was left on the shortend of a 7-4 decision. Jack Chedester and Jim Prenergast had two hits apiece for the winners.

Winning pitcher Dave Perras yielded a run-scoring triple to Ron Topper and Gary Lubinsky cracked two singles while Doug Johns' single scored another of Hamm's runs.

Johnnie's 76 running away with Red title

Extra Point Bar learned why Johnnie's is the best softball team in the Westland Minor 'Blue' Division this year.

Johnnie's, the undefeated leader, rattled Extra Point 26-5 for its eight successive victory. And the win also gave it some breathing room as Quo Vadis fell behind by two games (6-1).

Phil Raney had an excellent night at the plate for the winners as he contributed two roundtrippers, a single and drove in five runs. Gary Sharp chipped in with a pair of doubles and a triple for three RBIs and Bob Morin got to loser Gary Morton for a couple of doubles and a single, good for three RBIs.

Don Yanik scattered seven hits but fell behind 2-1 in the first inning before going on to get credit for the victory. The Porters - Matt and Mark - were tough on Yanik. Matt collected a homer and triple, while Mark had a pair of singles.

A total of 49 hits went into the scoring book and when the swinging was over, the Animal Farm edged County Mounties 20-18. The Mounties scored seven times in the first and eight times in the fifth but the winners put up four runs in the last of the sixth and two of those stood up as the difference in this game.

Chuck Howton was the winner. He was tagged for 26 hits, four of those singles by Ed Carravella and three each by Ken Darwish and Barry Heally.

Jerry Tapp, Mike Henry and Don Chastain each had three hits off loser Ed Lindburg who also was touched for two RBIs apiece by the three batters.

A six-run Bruce's Towing spurt in the seventh gave them a 13-9 victory over their competitors, J & D Auto, as Yves Szymanski slammed three hits and two RBIs for the winners. Teammate Dave Wilkins clubbed a homer and singled, good for three RBIs and Les Warden checked in with a single and double off of loser Bob Perky.

Dave Perkins survived a seven-run J & D fourth to pick up the victory, but not after Steve Gross, Earl Williams and Kevin Morine each had two hits.

Fiesta Lanes held off a Westland Florists team 16-15 despite a seven-run third by the losers who received homers from Rich Samules who had three hits, and Roger Fielder whose roundtripper and single counted for three RBIs. Bill Wiper belted two singles off of winning pitcher Paul Campbell.

Ken Piehi had three hits, including a double, Rich Reuther singled and tripled and Dave Mars sliced a run-scoring single off of loser Bill Langley.

Yellow summer squash on the grill

The words "outdoor cooking" probably call to mind visions of steaks sizzling, beef barbecuing and hot dogs hissing over hot coals. But charcoal cookery need not be limited to meats alone. Vegetables cook beautifully on the grill, too, and they take on an exciting new flavor.

Yellow summer squash is a colorful vegetable that cooks well on the grill and will complement any meat selection. To ease preparation, slice the squash into the center of a square of heavy duty aluminum foil. Top with onion slices, crumbled bacon, butter and seasonings for added taste appeal. Bring the four corners of foil up together, squeeze the ends and press them to the package.

If desired, you can prepare the vegetables ahead in the foil bundle, refrigerate it and pop it right on the grill when the coals are ready. Acting as the cooking container, the foil bundle eliminates the need for scouring pans and makes cleanup easy. The Grilled Squash stays warm inside the foil, should second helpings be requested, and any leftover can be stored in the same foil wrapping.

Grilled Summer Squash

1 small yellow squash, sliced 1/2-inch thick
1 small onion, sliced
1/4 cup crumbled bacon
1 tsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper

Tear off an 18-inch square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap; place squash, onion and bacon in center. Season with salt and pepper; dot with butter. Bring four corners of foil up together in a pyramid shape. Fold the openings together loosely to allow for heat circulation and expansion. Seal by folding over ends and pressing to package. Grill over moderately hot coals 20-30 minutes or until tender.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

While food editors and the American housewife do not usually equate July cookery with soup (unless it's one of the more sophisticated "cold" types), those of us calling Michigan "home" have to admit that even in the midst of summer we are wont to drag out the old soup kettle.

Such was the case on a recent cool (spelled c-o-l-d) Sunday, July 1. Not only was there soup brewing on the back burner but a cozy fire lighting up the hearth at our house. Y'all remember the way July bowed in, dontcha?

Being an avid collector of recipes, there are always dozens waiting to be tested and one of the more inviting and challenging was "Cream of Cauliflower Soup." Doesn't that sound great? (Or is today unbearably hot and the thought makes you perspire even more?)

Anyway, C of C soup came to my attention while perusing a travel magazine at the beauty shop. In it were some of the most requested recipes from famous restaurants and this one was from The Bakery in Chicago.

Since there's nothing I like to tackle better than a big pot of homemade soup (it makes me feel just a touch gourmet-ish), I figured this was the day for something good and hot and "different." Had all the time in the world, too — the nastiness of the day having cancelled our golf date.

Detached the recipes from its magnetized position on the "fridge" (where it'd been yellowing from exposure) and, surprisingly, I had most of the ingredients; at least the essential ones. So tackled the onions, carrots and cauliflower, thawed out chicken stock which'd been waiting in the freezer and went to work creating still another new soup.

The recipe makes just scads and, had I included ALL the groceries called for, would have been even MORE abundant. But it's nice to know that on the next cool summer day I can simply pull out a carton of soup, tuck it in the microwave and have a homemade meal in an instant. Besides our Sunday supper and a serving saved for lunch, I was able to freeze two more containers which will each feed two or three people.

Hope you enjoy the soup as much as we. Of course, to begin with — you DO have to like cauliflower!

CREAM OF CAULIFLOWER SOUP

2 tablespoons oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 small carrot, grated
1 lb. head cauliflower, cut in florets
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cups chicken stock
8 cups chicken stock
bouquet garni (1/2 teaspoon peppercorns, 1 teaspoon tarragon, 1/2 bay leaf)
1/4 cup butter or oleo
1/4 cup flour
2 cups milk
1 cup half and half
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup sour cream

Saute onion in oil until transparent. Add carrot and celery and cook 2 minutes. Add cauliflower and parsley. Cover, reduce heat to low and cook 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add stock and bouquet garni and bring to boil over medium heat. Reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes.

Melt butter in 2-quart pan, stir in flour to make a roux. Add milk slowly and bring to boil over medium heat until thick and smooth. Remove from heat and stir in half and half. Add sauce to simmering soup. Blend in sour cream. Season to taste and simmer gently 10-15 minutes.

Now for a few suggestions (or tips): to make a bouquet garni, the gourmet cook ties the called-for herbs and spices in a little cheesecloth bag. But that can be a drag so — if you've a teaball in your utensils drawer, get it out and tuck your spices in that. The reason for all this is so you don't have unsightly bits of herbs or those peppercorns floating around and spoiling the looks of your soup.

Either fresh or dried parsley may be used but, had I had some, I'd have preferred the fresh.

I didn't have half and half so just eliminated it and the soup was fine without it; its addition, of course, would have made for an even richer, creamier base, though.

Also did NOT add a whole cup of sour cream but just kept adding dollops until the taste was right for us. Do your own thing there but remember, put your sour cream in a cup or bowl and add small amounts of the hot soup to it until it's a smooth, thin mixture and THEN add it to your soup. Sour cream does not take to boiling so keep that temperature down on your range once it's in the pot.

I also added more thickening simply because we prefer thicker, heartier soups but that's up to you, too. Doesn't it sound great?

GOTTA ADMIT that the Chocolate Cheese Pie we ran a couple weeks ago was not, in this amateur's opinion, worth the trouble. UNLESS — (and here's where I need to hear from you) — by not keeping it frozen I took away from the planned taste and texture. I froze it originally but did not keep it in its frozen state for serving. Although there were good comments on the pie, it did NOT taste like a cheese pie but rather like an ordinary chocolate pudding pie to me. Any comments?

If the air doesn't seem to be flowing through your windows the way you think it should, take a look at those screens. Dusty and dirty? Most of the time that's the reason.

For the cleanest, sparkliest screens in town use a cup of sudsy ammonia with a gallon of water (mix it in a plastic wastebasket that also needs a wash job).

Tilt the screens against a wall or fence and, with a scrub brush, work from top to bottom after pouring some of the mixture across the top. Then make a quarter turn and repeat the action. Lastly, use the garden hose with a good strong spray and rinse the whole thing. Tap the screen gently to remove the water, turn and tap again and VOILA! screens that can breathe again. (P.S. Using just the hose really doesn't do the job.)

Whenever I can find the time, I've been reading a book which a dear librarian friend thought I might like since she knows my bent for Washington, D.C. themes.

Non-fiction, it's the "inside story of life in Washington during the Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson Years" as written by Jack Anderson with James Boyd. Anderson, who was broken in by the notorious columnist and radio personality, Drew Pearson, gives his account of working with the man in his (Anderson's) early years.

I was particularly interested in the long section on Joe McCarthy who rose to fame and then his demise in the years when I had absolutely no interest in the Capitol scene.

Anderson is quite a writer and likes to hit his readers with such 10-dollar words as desideratum ... libidinous ... contumacious ... chimera ... factotum ... conspicuous which, admittedly, are not part of my everyday vocabulary. And they did sort of "throw" me at first. (How about those gems, J.B.?)

But the man's flair with a phrase is delightful. Take these, for instance: "He (MacArthur) was seen as a mountain peak silhouetted against lightning." "A young man (Roy Cohn) whose national cockiness was inflated into a gross arrogance by the helium of McCarthy's power." "... consternation percolated in foreign capitols and segments of the American press." He does have a way with words and, if the governmental scene is your cup of tea, you might like the book.

IN CASE YOU WONDERED — the ages old expression "A pretty kettle of fish" was culled from the time salmon swam upstream in Scotland and when countryfolk would customarily pitch their tents along the flowery banks of the famed Tweed River. For in bygone times, the annual salmon run heralded gala picnics with days of fishing and evenings of merriment (for all except the hapless salmon!). But with "too many cooks," indeed, spoiling the broth, and hordes of hungry diners grabbing fish from the kettles "catch-as-catch-can" — and strewing food all over the grass — the picnic more often resembled a shambles. The Scots had an iron word for such unsightly litter, calling it, wryly, "pretty." So "a pretty kettle of fish" swam across the borders as an international idiom for a messy situation.

THE BOTTOM LINE: A man who won't lie to a woman has very little consideration of her feelings.

MR. AND MRS. STUART R. HOPE

Reception in Racine honors Hope's 50th wedding anniversary

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart R. Hope was recently observed at a dinner reception at Dania Hall in Racine, Wis. The couple, long familiar to Belleville residents — he was reared by his grandmother and aunt, the late Margaret E. Hope, and graduated from Belleville High School in 1913 — make their home at 3803 Republic Avenue in Racine, where he has lived for 52 years and where she was born.

Esther I. Clunie became Mrs. Hope on June 15, 1929 when The Rev. John W. Perry officiated at their nuptial rite in Racine.

Born in Galveston, Tex., and a 52-year resident of Racine, Hope was ticket agent for the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad until his retirement on June 1, 1960. His wife, a native of Racine, was employed by the Wisconsin Telephone Co. until she retired Aug. 14, 1960.

Both are members of the First Baptist Church and have been active in masonic and veterans organizations. Hope is a 63-year Master Mason, a life member of the Commandery, a Royal Arch Mason and Council, and a member of the Scottish Rite and Tripoli Shrine. He is a past commander of American Legion Post 76.

A Past Matron of Racine Chapter 45 and a Past Worthy High Priestess of Bethany Shrine 7, Mrs. Hope is also a Past Royal Matron of the Order of the Amaranth. And, too, she is a member of the Florence Nightingale Society and the American Legion Auxiliary.

RHS teen attends career institute

Tonia Rush, an 11th grader at Romulus Senior High School, attended the "1979 National Business Career Institute for College-Bound Young Women" held at Madonna College June 17-21.

Tonia received a tuition grant from Inkster's Eta Iota Omega

Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority to participate in this national institute.

The institute, designed to provide students with career insights into the business field, also included a variety of experiences. Included were career development and values clarification exercises, individual interest testing, decision-making, corporation tours, and small group discussions with women executives representing marketing, management, accounting, finance, research, occupational medicine, corporate law, computer systems, retailing and small business ownership.

Dr. Phyllis Robinson, coordinator of the AKA chapter's career development activities, guided the sorority's participation in this national endeavor. Madonna, host site for the conference, received a national grant to conduct the institute for young women from around the country. Mrs. Wilzetta Williams is basfleur of the sponsoring chapter.

Tonia remains active in numerous school activities. She is a member of the Junior Achievement organization, having won an award for "Businesswoman of the Year" from the Wayne JA Chapter. She also serves as president of the Serrelles, the "little sister" youth group sponsored by the AKA Eta Iota Omega Chapter.

In addition, she is a member of the Romulus yearbook staff, vice-president for sales for Junior Achievement's "Jawls," the club name that she founded, and which stands for Junior Achievement Work Leadership Services.

Special projects included a visit to the Inkster Geriatric Center to work with the elderly; Local 157 Democratic Club, serving as a hostess-coat-check girl; and participation in the Mother-Daughter banquet near Mother's Day.

Tonia is the daughter of Louise and John Rush of Wahrman, Romulus. Tonia's sister, Sherry Louise, also is a member of the Serrelles Club and works actively with her.

Fred Lunde feted on 80th birthday

One of Belleville's best known retired businessmen, Fred Lunde, was the guest of honor June 16 when relatives gathered at the home of his daughter and son-in-law to salute him on his 80th birthday.

Jeanette and E.R. Oliver of Livonia entertained a host of relatives who'd answered the invitation to their two o'clock buffet dinner and lawn party. The honoree arrived, of course, with his bride, Ina, to share in the festivities.

The highlight of the afternoon was a "This is Your Life" segment prepared and presented by the Lunde's grandson, Russ Lunde, whose program included photographs of the "young man" from birth to his present status as octogenarian. A special birthday cake with a golfing motif spelled out the way the man-of-the-hour prefers to spend his leisure time.

On hand for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Eldar Alverstein and son, Finn, relatives from Oslo Norway. Still other members of the clan included Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Lunde of Livonia; Mrs. Sue Buchau of Watertown, N.Y.; SRA and Mrs. John (Pam) Harrington and son, Morris, of Dayton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buckle of Ryznar Drive; Doug Oliver of Livonia; Mrs. Mary Ellen O'Connell of Waters Edge; Mr. and Mrs. Russ Lunde and their trio, Amy, Joy and Mark from Canton; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Grigsby from Florida and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Grigsby and daughter from Livonia.

Two weeks after the party Fred and Ina were off to Toronto, Ont. for the International Kiwanis Convention. They were among the 18 who attended from Belleville and who returned in time to catch the Fourth of July fireworks in their home town.

Cathy Allen on Mercy College Dean's List

Cathy Lee Allen, the daughter of Mrs. Norene Allen of 44450 Judd Rd., Belleville, and Edward Allen of Westland, was among those named to the Dean's List at Mercy College of Detroit.

She received a grade point average of 3.63 and was honored with the President's Scholarship for the 1979-80 term.

Miss Allen, who graduated from Belleville High School in 1976, also received a State of Michigan Scholarship and is working toward her bachelor of science degree in medical records administration.

This summer she is working at Mount Carmel Hospital in Detroit in the Mercy College of Detroit Medical Records and Science Faculty office.

Out-of-state guests return home

By Mrs. Joseph Spring, 699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groeschner with Kari and Mark left on Monday, July 2, for their home at Norwalk, Conn. after having spent the past 10 days with Mrs. Groeschner's parents, Mayor and Mrs. Justin Emerson of Madelon Street.

The misses Patricia and Linda Cavanaugh of Independence, Ky. have been guests the past 10 days of their great-aunt, Mrs. B.P. Hopson of Belleville Road. While here they enjoyed a trip to Bob-lo, visited the Renaissance Center and Greek Town in Detroit and took a trip to Windsor, Ont. They left for home on Saturday, June 30.

Mrs. James Graham and daughter, Pam, of Potter Drive returned home on Monday, July 2, from Northampton, Mass. where they had attended the wedding of a niece, Roberta Beattie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beattie, to Edward Keys, on June 30 at Blessed Sacrament Church in Northampton and the reception at The Lamplighter.

The bride is the granddaughter of former Belleville residents, Mr. and Mrs. John Zuroff, now of Inkster.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles

P. McKelvey, Kim and Amy, of East Huron River Drive spent several days this past week with Mrs. McKelvey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Folk at Sandusky, Ohio. While there they spent a day at Cedar Point.

Mrs. Alice Herkimer of Denton Road returned home on Saturday of last week after having spent two weeks at Pottersville with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dewain Watson and family. Mrs. Watson with children, Julie and Jimmie, returned home with her to stay until after the Fourth of July.

Mrs. William Stambaugh of Edgemont Street returned on Tuesday of last week from Paintsville, Ky. where she had visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hursel Vanhoose. While there they all attended the golden wedding anniversary of long-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. William Birchvell at Cannonburg, Ky. on July 1.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jenkins of Arcadia, Calif. have been guests this past two weeks of the latter's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hatch of Church Street, and other relatives in the Albion and Ann Arbor area. They left for home by plane on July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Preuninger of Manchester and the latter's mother, Mrs. S.C. Pierman of East Huron River Drive, returned Sunday, July 1, from Havre, Mont. where they had spent two weeks with Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knapp on their ranch. While there they enjoyed a family reunion with 25 relatives.

Denise and Roberta Welt of Willis Road attended the wedding of a friend, Cynthia Louise Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Turner of Dearborn, to David Patrick Norman at Dearborn Woods Presbyterian Church on Friday, June 29. They also attended the reception at Al Matta Grotto in Dearborn.

Albert Day of Belleville Road has been a patient at Beyer Memorial for several days the past two weeks.

Mrs. Henry Sager of West Columbia Avenue, Mrs. Velma Kulzer of Liberty Street, and Mrs. Betty Parkinson of West Huron River Drive were last Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Sager's cousin, John DeLind of Clarkston.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland Street received word on Wednesday, July 4, of the sudden death of their son-in-law, Douglas Wright of Dundee, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Services were held on Saturday, July 7 at Buhl Funeral Home in Dundee.

After having spent some time with his mother, Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street, and other relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saunders and family left Tuesday for Charlevoix to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Moore, before leaving for their home in Weare, Conn. via the Blue Water Bridge and Sarnia, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Richardson of Allen Park were Fourth of July guests of the latter's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Haft of Church Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Seaman of Savage Road have returned home after having spent some time at Cheboygan.

Mrs. Winifred Gault of Roland Street was a July 4th guest of her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sparrow at Bloomfield Hills, and with her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Theisen who had just arrived from Miami, Fla.

On Monday evening of last week The Rev. and Mrs. Joy Arthur of High Street, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hoff of West Huron River Drive, Mrs. Mary Mumford of Fret Road, Mrs. Winifred Gault of Roland Street and Mrs. Audrey McKee of Liberty Street enjoyed dinner together at Bonanza and later spent a social evening at Mrs. McKee's new apartment on Liberty Street.

Eastern Star members, Mrs. Pam Waack of Livonia; Kay Parker of S. Service Drive; and Edna Florian of Liberty Street were in Grayling to attend a program put on by the Grand Committee Women at Grayling Chapter No. 83 on Friday evening, June 29.

Mrs. Stella Neely of Westland was a guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welt of Willis Road on July 4th.

For the kiddies

This is the fourth year that Kensington Children's Farm and Village, a 100-acre site bordering the Huron River in Kensington Metropark near Milford, is open to the public.

The farm has a barn, chicken coop, corn crib, corral, carriage house, plus farm animals and farm implements. The farmyard has a variety of animals — including cows, chickens, geese, turkeys, ducks, horses, goats and lambs — which visitors can watch frolic, feed or pet.

The Children's Farm is open to the general public Tuesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Memorial Day through Labor Day.

MISS KNOX

MISS FARRUGIA

Mid-summer, fall weddings planned

Antioch Baptist Church in Belleville has been reserved for the July 28 wedding of Susan Kay Knox of Belleville and Paul Allen Nichols of Westland.

Their daughter's engagement and approaching marriage are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knox of 47151 Lauren Ct., Belleville.

Miss Knox, who graduated from Belleville High School in 1974, is employed in Canton at the Star Shop Party Store.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Nichols of 5839 Wilmer, Westland, attended Wayne-Westland schools and is now employed at Automobile Transport, Inc.

FARRUGIA-RAMSEY

An autumn wedding is being planned by Victoria Anne Farrugia and David Michael Ramsey, both of Belleville, whose engagement is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Benny Farrugia of 265 Tamarack Trail, Belleville, parents of the bride-elect.

A 1978 graduate of Belleville High School, Miss Farrugia is employed by the Ford Motor Company at Rawsonville and also works parttime at Captain Nemo's in Inkster.

The prospective bridegroom, the son of Julie Ramsey of Taylor, resides at 821 Savage Rd., Belleville. He is employed as a police officer by Van Buren Township.

An Oct. 20 altar date at the Belleville United Presbyterian Church has been set by the young couple.

You are cordially invited

You are cordially invited... to take an active part in the success of your local newspapers, The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman, by submitting items of interest in your communities.

Births of your children, grandchildren or great-grandchildren (here or in other parts of the country) are always welcome news stories; readers love hearing about babies, their showers, christenings, birthday parties and subsequent activities.

Not only cradle events, but bridal showers, pre-nuptial parties, housewarmings, family reunions, the many "bowl" game, golf and bowling parties in the area, farewell and welcome back get-togethers, social club parties, first communions, wedding anniversaries, and all the goings on at any holiday season make for interesting reading in this Suburban Living section.

We love hearing about your college students and their accomplishments and what some of the BHS, HHS and RHS alumni are doing these days. Don't be shy; drop us a line and we'll see that your story gets into print.

The many clubs in the community are also requested to choose a "reporter" from their group who will contact this office after each meeting. Simply jot down the who, what, where, when and why of your organization and get it to us by our deadline date — that's 2 p.m. each Thursday unless a holiday requires an earlier submission time.

Special forms are available here in the office for engagements, weddings, births and wedding anniversaries. Simply stop by and fill one out or give us a call and we'll see that you receive one by mail.

We are anxious to fill each individual's reading interests on the Suburban Living pages and, through each person's cooperation, we can make your local newspaper just that — one filled with LOCAL news.

Brief items, such as upcoming events for the "It's a Date" column and birth announcements, will be taken over the telephone; however, all other news must be submitted in written form. (Don't worry about story-form, we'll see to that.) We simply do not have time to take lengthy stories via the phone. Those brief bits may be phoned in to 697-9191 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Drop your news off at 116 Fourth Street (we sit in the little block between the old and the new NBD banks — use the side entrance) or mail to the same address in Belleville, zip 48111.

Remember — the deadline is Thursday at 2 p.m. for anything that's to appear in the following week's issue.

We're looking forward to your R.S.V.P.

Cheap Trick Live in Japan

The Biggest Thing Since Transistors!

Cheap Trick at Budokan

Yes, "Cheap Trick at Budokan" is the exact same album that was previously available only as a Japanese import. Features the new smash hit single, "I Want You to Want Me," plus electrifying performances of "Surrender" and "Ain't That a Shame." And no, we couldn't hold this one back. Thousands of otherwise somewhat stable people were threatening to commit hara-kiri if we didn't release it now. So we did. It was the only honorable thing to do.

Produced by Cheap Trick. Management: KEN ADAMANY.

Recipes for summer cooking

VEGETABLE KABOBS

8 skewers, 7-inch
4 small zucchini
Fresh whole mushrooms
Cherry tomatoes

Parmesan Butter Sauce:

6 tbsp. (3/4 stick) butter
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. leaf oregano

Cook zucchini in small amount of boiling water about 10 minutes; cut in 1/2-inch slices. To prepare Sauce: Melt butter; stir in cheese, lemon juice and oregano. To prepare kabobs: Alternate zucchini, mushrooms and tomatoes on skewers. Place on grill 5-6 inches from coals. Cook 8-12 minutes turning occasionally and brushing with Parmesan Butter Sauce.

SUMMER SUSAN FRUIT SALAD

Line a large platter with lettuce leaves. Place a small low bowl in center of platter. Line bowl with lettuce leaves; fill with cottage cheese. Arrange groups of fresh fruit on platter. Serve with Honey Orange Cream Dressing.

-HONEY ORANGE CREAM DRESSING

Yield: 1 1/4 cups

2 tbsp. honey
2 tbsp. orange juice
1 cup dairy sour cream
Grated orange peel

Blend honey and orange juice; gently fold into sour cream. Chill. Garnish with orange peel.

Picnic Packin's

Packing a little pizzazz in the picnic basket is sure to make meals under the sun fun!

BEACH KABOBS

4 servings
4 skewers
4 smoked thuringer or knockwurst sausages
12 green pepper squares, 1 1/2-inches
12 tomato wedges
Melted butter
4 slices (1-oz. each) Muenster or Brick cheese
4 individual French rolls, split, buttered and toasted

Cut each sausage crosswise into 3 pieces. On each skewer, thread 3 pieces of sausage alternately with green pepper and tomato. Grill 5-6 inches from coals for 10-12 minutes. Turn frequently, brushing with butter. Place slice of cheese on bottom half of each roll. To serve: Remove kabobs from skewer onto each roll.

MEXICAN BURGERS

8 servings

SAUCE:
1 can (7 1/4 oz.) frozen avocado dip, thawed
1 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
1 tbsp. chopped green onion

BURGERS:

2 pounds ground beef
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese

To prepare Sauce: Combine avocado dip, lemon juice and onion; set aside. To prepare Burgers: Lightly mix beef, eggs, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Shape into 16 patties, each 4-inches in diameter. Place 2 tablespoons cheese into center of 8 of the patties. Top with remaining patties, pressing edges to seal. Grill one side, turn and place about 2 tablespoons sauce on each patty. Grill to desired degree of doneness. Top with chopped tomato and serve on toasted buns, if desired.

Plant your own herb garden

Looking for a way to give fresh summer vegetables a little extra zip? How about growing a few herbs?

Nancy Butler, Washtenaw Cooperative Extension Horticultural Assistant, points out that herbs don't need much space. You can grow them in a flower pot on a sunny windowsill, in a flower bed, as part of a vegetable garden or in boxes on a porch or patio.

Most herbs do well even in poor soil, as long as it's fairly well drained. A small patch by the back door, where they'll be handy to the kitchen, makes a good companion to a small salad garden. Three or four plants at the most of each herb should provide enough seasoning for the average family.

Most herbs can be seeded directly into the garden in spring. Most annual herbs have to be replanted each year, though some — like chives and dill — will reseed themselves. Perennial herbs, once established, will come back year after year.

Some herbs can also be propagated by cuttings and division. Clumps of chives, for instance, can easily be divided. Cuttings may be used in late summer to propagate some plants to grow indoors during the winter. Basil, chives, mint, parsley, sweet marjoram and rosemary usually are good choices for windowsill culture.

When and how you harvest herbs depends on the plant and the part to be harvested. Leaves of some herbs, such as parsley and chives, are harvested for fresh seasoning. Simply snip leaves as needed as soon as plants are large enough to spare a few.

Harvest herbs like rosemary and thyme by clipping the tops at full bloom. Basil, fennel, mint, sage, summer savory, sweet marjoram, tarragon and winter savory are best harvested in the prebloom stage.

The seeds of anise, coriander, dill, fennel and lovage should be harvested early in the ripening process, before the seed heads shatter.

Herbs can be tied in loose bunches and hung in a well ventilated, dust-free room to dry; or they can be spread on hardware cloth, clean window screen or cheesecloth. Leaves may also be stripped from the stems and spread on flat trays.

All herb drying should be done in a cool room, away from sources of artificial heat and sunlight. When leaves are dry and brittle, place them in tightly covered glass jars and store in a dark, cool location. If moisture forms inside the jar, more drying is needed.

Watch pets in summer

Heat and careless owners can make summer miserable for dogs and cats ... and also deadly.

Despite repeated warnings, careless owners continue to leave pets in closed, parked cars or transport their pets in automobile trunks. Interior temperatures rapidly reach unbearable levels for the animals and can result in death.

This was underscored by a recent incident at the Michigan Humane Society shelter in Westland. Ten unwanted puppies were brought to the shelter in a box. After the 15-minute trip to the shelter, two puppies were unconscious and the other eight were on the verge of unconsciousness. Only quick action by the shelter staff revived the pups.

Don't take a chance with your pet's life, never leave him in a parked car or transport him in a trunk or closed container.

Other hot weather tips for pet owners include having plenty of fresh clean water available all of the time; exercise with care during extremely hot weather; decrease food intake slightly and have shade available for outdoor dogs.

The Michigan Humane Society's education department has a limited number of notice cards available that explain the dangers of leaving a pet in a parked car. To obtain copies interested persons may write to the Education Department, 101 Chrysler Dr., Detroit 48211.

Foil tips for outdoor cooking

... Line grill fire bowls with heavy duty aluminum foil to aid even cooking and ease cleanup.

... Make your own drip pan by doubling a sheet of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap aluminum foil into a large rectangle to fit your grill. Fold up the sides, miter the corners and set into place in the grill fire bowl before you start the fire. The foil drip pan comes in handy to catch fat drippings and prevents flare-ups.

... Cooking foods in foil bundles over hot coals is convenient and easy. The foil bundle eliminates the need for pots and pans and cleanup is a snap.

... Individual recipe servings can be prepared in foil for grilling. Then each person can eat directly from the foil packet.

... Wrap up French bread in foil for grilling over hot coals. With the foil wrapping, you can remove one slice at a time and then reclose the foil over the remaining portion, keeping it hot until more is needed.

... Plan ahead for your cookout meal by preparing some of your recipes in foil bundles, refrigerate them and then pop them right on the grill when you're ready to eat.

... Prepare a simple yet tasty dessert on the grill. Combine a 21 ounce can of your favorite pie filling, some sliced fresh fruit, one tablespoon lemon juice and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla inside a foil bundle. Grill over medium hot coals until heated through. Makes a "yummy" hot topping for cake or ice cream.

Prevent the 'scourge of summer' — recognize and avoid poison ivy, sumac

Derby winners

Winners of the Pinewood Derby from Cub Pack 921 of Elwell Elementary School were (from left) Michael Teall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbett Teall, who took first place; Joey Thacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Thacker, second, and Eric Light, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Light, third. Cub Master is Gary Thacker. Each parent also built and raced a car, the winner in that category being Norbett Teall.

Quotes worth quoting...

"The man who brags about how well he plays poker is actually demonstrating the reverse, for the essence of the game is duplicity."

Sydney J. Harris said it.

Amid our friends, the green plants, are a number of foes that lurk waiting for the unwary person to touch them and to become afflicted with the scourge of summer — the itching, oozing, redness and skin irritation of allergic reactions to poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac.

All three of these plants are members of the plant genus "toxicodendron" and cause allergic reactions in an estimated 150 million Americans.

Poison ivy, oak and sumac — all native to the United States and Canada — are botanical booby traps that grow in woods, swamps and gardens. All produce a sticky sap containing a chemical, urushiol. Contact with this sap can cause dermatitis in seven out of 10 people.

Learning to recognize these plants is a must. Poison ivy and poison oak have leaves that grow in groups of three and their berries are greenish-white. Poison sumac is distinguished from other sumacs by its drooping green berries; harmless sumacs have red, erect berry clusters.

After recognizing these plants, don't touch them and don't touch anything that has touched them, like garden tools, clothing or pets.

Poison ivy allergy is sneaky: its blistering rash does not occur immediately on contact. Twelve hours or more may go by before the redness and itching begin — that is what is known as "delayed hypersensitivity."

The rash itches and itches and oozes. The worst is usually over in five days. That is, if you have thoroughly washed yourself, your clothes, your tools and pets.

Urushiol remaining on the skin or on these other items can cause further outbreaks on your skin. This is why most people think poison ivy "spreads."

Wet, cold compresses of water, boric acid and aluminum acetate may ease the itching while the skin is oozing. Calamine does, too, and dries up the blisters.

Don't excessively treat with over-the-counter lotions since some of these contain ingredients that themselves cause reactions when applied to the skin. For really bad cases, call a physician.

Behind all allergies is an altered immunity. Scientists at a network of centers supported by National Institute of Health's National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) investigate allergies to find their causes and to develop treatment methods.

Better techniques for immunotherapy against poison ivy and poison oak are being sought. The family of urushiol compounds is being studied to determine which one is best for use in more effective preventive treatment.

Write to NIH-NIAID-SH, Bldg. 31, Rm. 7A32, Bethesda, Md., 20205 for a free copy of "Poison Ivy Allergy", publication No. 77-897.

Plant now for your fall harvest

Though most people usually think of spring as the time to plant a garden, many vegetables can be planted in late June, July and even August for a fall harvest.

Gardeners who are harvesting early planted crops then can plant a second time and so make maximum use of their garden space. Those who simply didn't get the spring garden planted still have a chance to grow a variety of vegetables.

According to Nancy Butler, Washtenaw Cooperative Extension Horticultural Assistant, vegetables for a fall harvest can be seeded directly into the garden or transplanted as plants. She advises choosing quick maturing varieties which will have time to produce before the onset of severe weather.

Most of the crops that can be planted for a fall harvest are cool-weather crops. That is, they grow and mature best in spring and fall. Broccoli, cabbage, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, kale, Chinese cabbage and kohlrabi can be planted in late June. It's a good idea to mulch these plants to help keep the roots cool. Control of cabbage worms and loopers will also be necessary.

Other cool-weather crops for summer planting include butterhead and leaf lettuce, radishes, spinach, turnips and peas. Because radishes take only three or four weeks to mature, they can be planted as late as Sept. 1 in mid-Michigan. Leaf lettuce can be planted anytime after July 1 and before Aug. 15, peas and spinach in the second half of July, and turnips anytime during July.

Warm-weather crops that can be planted in June — provided your growing season is long enough — include snap beans, pickling cucumbers and summer squash. Be sure to pick varieties that begin producing within 50 to 60 days of seeding in the garden.

To prevent disease problems, avoid planting closely related plants in the same space. Follow early peas with lettuce and radishes, for instance, or cole crops — broccoli, cabbage, etc. — rather than beans.

Jodi Beth is June arrival

The population of the Belleville area was increased by one at 5:50 p.m. June 23 when Joel and Diane Auten of 48011 I-94 Service Dr., No. 102, welcomed their first child.

The 8 lb.-5 oz. infant, who measured 20½ inches, arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor and was titled "Jodi Beth".

She is the new granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schmidt of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Auten of Saline and the great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ruete of Grosse Pointe and Mrs. Mary Auten of Saline.

The new mother is the former Diane Carol Schmidt.

Funeral services held for Marta Zacharyczuk

Funeral services for Marta Zacharyczuk were held June 23 at St. John's Ukrainian Catholic Church followed by interment at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Mgrs. M. Bochnewich and The Rev. Walter Klimchuk officiated the rite. Mrs. Zacharyczuk, who died June 19 at Garden City Hospital after a short illness, was preceded in death by her husband in 1962. Surviving are a son Joseph of Garden City; a daughter Barbara Glover of Romulus; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Rosary devotions were held at Hradowsky Funeral Home in Detroit.

It's a girl, Dena Lee, for the Dennis Schmidts

Dena Lee is the name chosen by Dennis and Sandra Schmidt of 31221 Beverly, Romulus, for their new daughter born June 23 at 12:17 a.m.

Their first child, she made her debut at Riverside Hospital in Trenton where her weight was recorded at 6 lbs.-14 ozs. and length at 18½ inches.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hoggarth of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schmidt of Carleton are the baby's proud grandparents. Dena's mother is the former Sandra Hoggarth.

WHAT BURIAL BENEFITS DO VETERANS HAVE?

Did you know the Veterans' Administration (VA) provides up to $250 toward burial expenses of eligible veterans?

An additional $150 is available as a plot or interment allowance, if burial isn't in a government cemetery. And if a veteran's death is service-connected, VA will pay up to $800 instead of the usual burial allowances. It is also true that the VA payments will be reduced — or disallowed, if the veteran's employer or some state agency has already made these payments.

Which veterans are eligible for burial in a national or government cemetery? Those discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, and who have served in any of the following:

- The Viet Nam War
- The Korean War
- World War I
- World War II
- The Mexican Border Conflict
- The Spanish-American War

For specific benefits and/or forms, call on us or you may wish to contact the local VA office.

MIDNIGHT SNACK. The "night eating syndrome" is a term coined by Dr. J.A. Stunkard. The night syndrome is related to a stressful period, business or personal, in a person's life. You get over it when the stressful situation lets up. If your stress is related to money matters, you probably don't know it. Associated Newspapers Classified Ads can help you. You have all kinds of money makers in your home... that you don't know about. Record your golf clubs, record your stereo furniture, and more. Make a list, then dial 729-1300 and let the friendly Ad Writer help you put your offer before cash buyers. Do it today!
